CLAUDE CARRINGTON KILLED

Meets a Violent Death at Colby
While at Work.

On Thursday Samuel Carrington received the sad news that his son Claude had been killed at Colby that day while at work in the Colby Stave and Heading company's mill.

Mr. Carrington had been at Colby but a few days having been at work for Doud & Sons Co. at March until very recently. His death was caused by the bursting of a wheel jointer in the mill, the pieces of which flew in all directions, one part of the casting weighing about 200 pounds striking Mr. Carrington and killing him instantly. The piece of iron was hurled against the unfortunate man with such force that he was carried right through the side of the mill.

The machine that Mr. Carrington had been working at was reported to have been cracked and in a dangerous condition, besides which it was being run at a more rapid rate of speed than is usual on machines of this sort, which added to the risk in running a broken machine.

Mr. Carrington leaves a wife and three children. The remains were brought to this city yesterday and the funeral occurred at two o'clock today. The family have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

Contributed Advice.

Football practice at the High school has been of a more lively sort the last week and supporters of the scarlet and white have a renewed hope that their team will carry off the laurels in future games, yet there is a big chance for improvement, the most costly fault being the lack of team work. They resort too much to individual work and it seems three or four try to run the team at the same time. A little advice once in a while may be all right but the quarter back should be left alone, he will then keep cool and run his team to victory.

The line has good material but is very weak on defensive work, as was demonstrated in a one-sided game between the regular team and made up team of alumni scrubs, who defeated the High school 18 to 6. The scrubs had no signals but made up their plays as they went along, yet the way they tore up the High school line showed there was some '97 spirit there. The scrubs scored in three minutes of play, through the line and around the end as of old, while the High school could not pierce the scrub line and were held for downs time and time again. Their only score was made by a long run by Lipke the High school's best all around man. There are no stars in the scrub line up but back of the line Ed McCarthy, W. Corcoran and Smith did as they used to do, while Roennis, Baker and Vincent like mighty warriors, carried the youngsters before them. Chicklosky plays good ball for the scrubs at half. This sort of play will soon develop the High school team. Keep it up boys, you're all right. Don't let over confidence be your hoodoo.

Catholic Church Fair.

The fair held by the ladies of the Catholic church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday was a brilliant success from start to finish. The displays of fancy work and useful articles made by the ladies in the booths about the hall were very tasty and found ready sale among those that attended.

The musical programs and suppers were also well attended and it is probable that the net proceeds will be $500.

One of the features Thursday evening was the voting contest, the lucky one receiving the greatest number of votes to receive a doll. Four little tots were candidates for favors, they being Alice Arpin, Gertrude Reiland, Anna Daly, Lodiue Chandos and Ruth McCauley. Gertrude Reiland won the doll and the sum of $127.70 was realized by the contest. Each of the little girls were presented with a doll at the close of the contest so that none of them had to go home disappointed.

The dance was largely attended and Hirzy's orchestra discoursed some sweet music for the occasion. The dancing was kept up until about two o'clock, and everyone had a good time.

A Fine Record.

In this issue of the Tribune, Mr. Toland announces the winter term of his famous business training schools. Schools that have revolutionized business college methods in the northwest and made a diploma issued by any of them a guarantee that its holder is competent to fill the most exacting position. Ever since Mr. Toland began advertising in this county he has secured all of the best class of our young people who desired a business education, and has shown his appreciation of the patronage given him by sending the majority of his graduates to good paying positions, in fact we know of none from this county whom he has not assisted. In addition to his business universities at LaCrosse, Eau Claire, Wausau, Monroe and Wisconsin he has recently opened another school at Fairmont, Minn., which bids fair to surpass any of his branch schools. To those desiring an education that will fit them for the best paying positions, the Tribune cordially commends the Toland Universities.

Garrison-Ward Wedding.

On Thursday morning at nine o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Nan E. Ward to Emile B. Garrison, the ceremony taking place at the Catholic parsonage, Rev. F. Van Roosmalen officiating. Miss Nellie Ward, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Orestes Garrison, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ward, on Oak street and sixty-eight guests partook of viands that were served.

The bride presented a handsome appearance attired in white silk, with white silk lace trimming. She also wore white bride's roses. The bride's table was decorated with white bride's roses and smilax and the other tables with white carnations as souvenirs. The house decorations were evergreens and cut flowers and presented a very tasty appearance.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ward and has many warm friends in this city where she has spent the greater part of her life. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garrison of the west side and is a Grand Rapids boy and has many friends to wish him and his handsome bride a happy journey through life. The young couple left on the noon train for Milwaukee and Delafield where they will spend a week among friends.

The bride received a large number of handsome and costly presents from her numerous friends, there being many in cut glass and hand painted china, veritable works of art.

Among those who attended from abroad were Miss Marie La Count, Mrs. C. A. Stange, Mrs. Prue O'Connor of Merrill, Miss Addie Loeper, of Prairie du Chien and Emmanuel Menett of Stevens Point, Max Garrison of Thorp and Larry Ward of Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will be at home after Nov. 20th at Port Edwards, where they will reside.

A Paying Crop.

A. W. Moody, who manages the pickle business of Alart & McGuire of Green Bay was in the city Wednesday and Thursday engaged in paying off the farmers for the cucumbers they have raised and delivered to the company during the past season. Mr. Moody reports that the farmers so far have expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the returns received this year and have pretty generally said that they would be pleased to go into the matter more extensively next season. Mr. Moody stated that it was really a surprise to him that the farmers in this section were so favorably impressed with this year's experiments, as the season was so unfavorable in the start that the yield was pretty generally small and nothing like an average year.

Mr. Moody stated that one man near Green Bay this year picked 334 worth of cucumbers from two acres of ground. This was not told to give people the idea that it was an average yield or even an ordinary one, but was merely mentioned as an incident, and to show what enormous productions were made when all the conditions happened to combine so as to produce an abnormal yield.

Next year no contracts will be made with the farmers in this section unless a building is erected here to be used as a salting station. What the cost of a building for this purpose will be can only be told after it is determined what the capacity will be. Mr. Moody says that, from what has been said by the farmers who have tried the experiment of raising cucumbers this year, from 400 to 600 acres can be contracted for. If 500 acres were planted it would mean, with an average yield, the production of 2,000 bushels of cucumbers, which would necessitate the building of a good sized plant, considerably larger than was expected when the experiment was tried this spring.

Some of our business men who are interested in the matter met Mr. Moody on Thursday and talked over the methods and the necessary investment of capital in order to put up the building required by the company and Messrs. Alart & McGuire will submit a plan as soon as they have received positive assurance that the business men here are ready to help them.

Cooper's Speech.

A large crowd turned out Tuesday evening to hear the Hon. H. A. Cooper rip the democratic party up the back and he satisfied the most fastidious in this line. In fact he seemed to forget that his audience might contain some people who had watched the doings of both parties for a number of years past and might have been gifted by the supreme being with a minutia of gray matter with which to think for themselves.

That ice trust down in New York was one of the subjects that received a lot of attention but the numerous other trusts that have been the means of bleeding the working man and farmers were forgotten about to a large extent.

He said, however, that there were other trusts and that no method had as yet been discovered by which they could be dealt with effectively and that no suggestion had ever been made by either party by which these things could be got rid of. Here is where there is cause to differ with Mr. Cooper. The Chicago Times Herald of March, 1899, says:

"Most certainly it should be the duty of congress, in both branches of which the republicans have a majority to abolish or suspend the protective duty on the products of any industry which has been organized into a trust and which has arbitrarily raised the prices of such products."

The St. Paul Pioneer Press in April 1900 said: "The whole list of protected monopolies ought to be brought within the purview of a tariff reform which would enable foreign competition to put a limit on their ability to raise prices."

The republican party has declared against the trusts and promised in times past that everything would be done to dispose of these great bands of organized robbers, and after coming in power they have put on a high tariff where the trusts wanted it in order to carry on their business at a greater profit, instead of cutting down the tariff on articles so that they would come into competition and be manufactured at only a fair profit.

Mark Hanna says "there are no trusts," that "there are good and bad trusts," and that "they don't hurt the laboring man any, anyway," but then Mark has said several things during the past few years that were not in accordance with strict veracity. Nobody, not even the democratic speakers, has denied that there is an ice trust in New York, and we have not heard anyone try to defend the actions of that trust nor try to make the public believe that it is a good thing, but one thing is certain, it is not robbing the people in this immediate vicinity to any appreciable extent. The only wonder is that the republicans do not claim it is an "infant industry" and clamor for a high protective tariff on ice.

The parade before the speech was very nice and the boys looked well with their campaign suits and torches. Most of the torchbearers, however, were mere boys, and seemed to screech louder for Bryan than they did for McKinley. It looked very much as if the republican leaders had not shown proper shrewdness in selecting their boys.

Mr. Cooper's oratorical powers are well developed and he told many funny stories and some pathetic ones, but we doubt very much if the class of talk he dished up would make any votes for his party. Mr. Cooper evidently fancied that he had arrived in a town where the people were only able to understand a very limited amount of the English language and many a republican went home feeling that he had listened to a pitiable Grade against his neighbor, as the speaker had said things that he would not say and could not endorse.

The Kauffman-Pittsville Case.

The case of Prof. Kauffman against the city of Pittsville has been tried during the past week and on Tuesday Judge Webb discharged the jury and took the decision of the case in his own hands. There are some fine points of law involved in the case.

Prof. Kauffman was hired to teach at Pittsville by the school board, but after the annual school meeting had been held there was a change of one member in the board, and he did not favor Kauffman as teacher, and as there had been one of the board against him before the election he was now in a minority.

After the annual school meeting Prof. Kauffman was notified not to teach, but he ignored the notice and took charge of the schoolhouse and started school in the usual way. He was notified several times and the school house locked against him, but he always managed to get in and hold school. At last he was carried out of the school room by those who were opposed to him and he brought suit against the city for the recovery of his year's wages. This is the only case of exactly this nature that has occurred in this state so the outcome of the matter is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

The matter has caused a great deal of all feeling among the different factions in Pittsville as the case had been bitterly contested on both sides before it was brought into court. As we go to press we learn that Judge Webb has decided in favor of Prof. Kauffman and the city will have to pay his year's wages.

Republicans throughout the state do not seem to be very jubilant over the attack made by the Sentinel on Louis Bohmrich. All of the main guys in the republican ranks seem to want to understand that they had nothing to do with the matter and they seem to be unanimous in saying that the attack will hurt their own party more than anyone else. LaFollette should be protected from his friends, as he would undoubtedly get along better without some of them.

BISHOP MRACK IS
A NONAGENARIAN.Missionary to the Indians in Ill and May Not Recover - Celebrates
His Birthday.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 16. (Special.)—Bishop Mrack is an nonagenarian today. He lies on a sickbed from which it is feared he will never arise. He was born in Austria in 1810, and was ordained a priest in 1837. In 1846 he came to this country, taking up missionary work with the Indians at Eaglestown, Mich. In 1861 he was raised to the episcopacy by Archbishop Purcell at Cincinnati. In 1880 he succeeded Bishop Baraga in charge of the diocese of Marquette and St. Ignace, resigning his charge in 1878 to resume his work among the Indians. Since 1880 he has lived at St. Mary's hospital here.

SET UPON BY REBELS.

Twenty Men of Twenty-fourth Regiment Overpowered Only
Seven Were Able to Escape.

Manila, Oct. 16.—Via Hong Kong.—A detachment of twenty men of the Twenty-fourth regiment while engaged in repairing telegraph wires October 10 at a point near San Jose, Nueva Ecija province, Isle de Luzon, were set upon by 200 rebels and were overpowered and scattered. Seven of the Americans reached San Jose, but it is probable that the remainder were captured.

The enemy surprised a party of scouts of the Forty-third infantry at a point three miles from Paklohan, Leyte island, killing three of the Americans at the first volley. Two escaped and gave the alarm, but the enemy succeeded in evading their pursuers. The native police of Paklohan had conspired to surprise the Americans. The bodies of the dead soldiers were badly mutilated.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Gov. Schroeder has issued an order opening all hospitals of Guam to the civilian patients free, and all who are suffering from disease are invited and urged to go to the hospitals for treatment.

SCENE OF A TRAGEDY.

Some Charred Bones, a Pool of Dried Blood and Several Blood-Stained Coins.

Alamo Gordo, N. M., Oct. 16.—The charred bones of a man and a boy, supposed to be the remains of Col. A. J. Fountain and his son Henry, have been found in the Sacramento mountains.

Col. Fountain and his son left Lincoln for Las Cruces the latter part of January, 1896. After leaving La Luz they disappeared. About a week later their buckboard was found near the Chalk bluffs, nearly a pool of dried blood and a few blood-stained coins, indicating the scene of the tragedy. Fountain was a prominent lawyer and in the valley he carried were indictments for the arrest of a number of persons charged with cattle stealing. Several men suspected of the murder were arrested after a fight with the officers, in which a deputy sheriff was killed, but all were acquitted for lack of evidence.

BOERS STILL ACTIVE.

Roberts has "Successful Engagement," in which the British Losses Were Severe.

London, Oct. 16.—Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria, under date of October 15, as follows:

"French started from Machadodorp towards Heidelberg to clear a part of the country not yet visited by our troops. Mahon, commanding the mounted troops, successfully engaged the enemy on October 13, but our losses were severe, three officers and eight men being killed and three officers and twenty-five men wounded. French occupied Carolina yesterday, capturing a convoy during his march."

Lord Roberts also reports a number of minor affairs, showing that the Boers are still active over a wide field.

POISON REMOVES HIS RIVAL.

Oil Driller Accused of Killing His Friend to Marry His Widow.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—The state dairy and food commissioner, in investigating the death of a Belmont county oil driller who had drunk a quantity of bad whisky, unearthed a tragedy in which it is claimed William Dement, also a driller, poisoned William Dixon, his best friend, that he might marry Dixon's wife. It is declared that in order to get rid of the husband Dement presented Dixon with a bottle of whisky which contained a quantity of strychnine. Dixon and his companion drained the bottle, and in a few hours Dixon was dead and his companion critically ill. It was discovered that Dement had administered strychnine a few days before, and this, together with his open and persistent attentions to Dixon's wife, led to his arrest.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF ENGLAND.

Lord Alverston Appointed to Succeed
the Late Baron Russell.

London, Oct. 16.—It is officially announced that Lord Alverston, formerly known as Sir Richard Webster, has been appointed lord chief justice of England, in succession to the late Baron Russell of Killowen.

Stockholm, Oct. 16.—King Oscar is confined to his bed with bronchial catarrh, complicated by an affection of the pleura in the right lung.

Primitive Lighthouse.

A thousand years before Architect Harcourt laid the foundation of Eddystone the Japanese had a lighthouse at Cape Maitai, on the island of Yezo, operated only stormy nights. The warning signals consisted of pitch-pine fires blazing in a grate, with a handle that could now and then be lifted and waved toward all points of the compass.—Indianapolis Press.

Fifteen Hundred Men Driven Back by Soldiers.

AT POINT OF BAYONET.

Strikers Had Marched Eighteen Miles for the Purpose of Closing Up Lehigh Collieries.

Lehigh, Pa., Oct. 16.—About 1500 men and sixty women and girls marched fifteen miles from the south side of Hazleton during the night, for the purpose of closing up the ten collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company, but just as the weary marchers were nearing their destination this morning they were met on a mountain road by three companies of infantry and at the point of the bayonet were driven back four miles to Tamaqua and dispersed. Another crowd of 800 strikers from the north side of Hazleton also marched here and succeeded in closing the company's No. 1 colliery at Nesquehoning, near Mauch Chunk, before it was scattered. The presence of the soldiers was entirely unexpected and the strikers were much crestfallen that they failed in accomplishing the object of their long march.

It was probably the most exciting morning that the Panther Creek and the Nesquehoning valleys have ever experienced. Strikers were scattered over the various roads, and companies of soldiers were scurrying in all directions heading off the marching men. The troops were patient with the mob of strikers, while the laboring men were very careful not to commit overt acts in the presence of the troops. For a moment just after the two forces met on the road in the darkness it looked as if a clash would come, but the good sense of those who had charge of the strikers prevented a possible conflict.

Report to Strong Methods.

The march on Panther Creek valley was on the strikers' programme for several days. The United Mineworkers, ever since the strike started, have been attempting to close the collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company in this region. Organizers were constantly in the region, but as a rule they did not attempt to use stronger methods to get the men and girls who were employed in the ten mines out on strike. Accordingly it was arranged that a big demonstration should be held in the valley. It was to have been held yesterday morning, but owing to the heavy rain and muddy roads it was called off until this morning. Those who took part were strikers from McAdoo, Yorktown, Banker Hill and Silver Brook, from the south side of Hazleton, and the Eschmuhl, Drifton, Jeddah and Beaver Meadows strikers from the north side. The women and girls all came from McAdoo, which borough is the only one in the Hazleton region which has organized female marchers.

The marchers came down like two armies, the south side men marching by way of Tamaqua, while the strikers from the north side went over the mountain at Beaver Meadows and entered the Panther creek valley by way of Nesquehoning. The south side army concentrated at McAdoo and the order to march was given at 10:30 o'clock last night. There were several fire and drum corps and a brass band in the line. The women and girls were conveyed in two large omnibuses. The whole town of McAdoo was out to see the marchers start. Until 12 o'clock the night was very dark, it being difficult to see any distance in the mountain passes, but after midnight the moon came out from behind a bank of clouds and for the remainder of the journey the marchers had plenty of light. As the town of Tamaqua was entered at 2 a. m. the strikers began to make as much noise as they could in order to awaken the people who were unaware of the coming of the strikers. The marchers went through the town without stopping for rest, and headed for Coaldale, four and a half miles away.

Five carriages containing newspaper correspondents, who had been trailing along at the rear of the procession, were requested to take the lead so that they would not interfere with the plans of the strikers. Following the newspaper men came the two conveyances containing the McAdoo women and then followed a long line of Hungarians, Italians, Poles, Slavs and English-speaking mineworkers. At a point half a mile from Coaldale the marchers turned to the right, and as the newspaper men, followed by there came a command to halt. It was about fifty feet in front of them stood solid rows of soldiers who were stretched across the road with bayonets fixed. Sheriff Toole of Schuylkill county was with them. The commander of the troops, speaking to the waiting crowd, said: "In the name of the people of the state of Pennsylvania, I command you to disperse and to return whence you came."

The strikers began to protest that they could not be stopped on a public highway and many of them showed a disposition to resist the soldiers. The officer in charge of the troops, however, kept him in position and the strikers, seeing that the soldiers evidently meant business, slowly began returning towards Tamaqua.

Mother Jones Protests.

"Mother" Jones, who was in the crowd, vehemently protested against the action of the troops in stopping the marchers, but she was shut off and ordered to move on. The McAdoo women had to be almost pushed along, so slowly did they walk. They continually jerked at the soldiers, pulling them all kinds of names, and threatening them with punishment if they should dare to visit McAdoo. It took from 3 o'clock until after 6 to drive the crowd back to Tamaqua.

When the soldiers had driven the strikers back to the mountain a company was sent back to Coaldale, where the soldiers boarded coal cars and were sent to Tamaqua to quell any disturbance the scattering strikers might stir up there. Further along the road a company was deployed to protect a colliery which the marchers were passing it, and later it was also sent to Tamaqua. The three companies combined in the latter town and soon had the marchers well scattered.

Compelled to Shut Down.

While all this had been going on, the north side marchers had everything their own way in the Nesquehoning valley. They reached there after 2 o'clock and succeeded in persuading enough men to remain away from the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company's No. 1 colliery to compel its shutdown. Gen. Goldsboro sent two companies of soldiers over there and soon had order restored.

Supt. W. D. Zehner of the company stated to a reporter of the Associated Press that if Sheriff Brison of Carbon county, in which the colliery is located, had performed his duty in a proper manner the Nesquehoning colliery would not have been shut down. Mr. Zehner said he remaining nine collieries of the company are working, most of them full-handed.

Will Not Return to Work.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 16.—Despite an active canvass made yesterday by a number of men to induce miners to go to work today at collieries between here and Hazleton, no one reported for duty this morning and the persons who circulated petitions asking men to resume work pending a settlement of the terms of the Scranton convention have been disappointed.

Soldiers Got There First.

Coaldale, Pa., Oct. 16.—The local union of the United Mineworkers, organized at 1 o'clock this morning, and prepared to welcome in a body the marchers from Hazleton and vicinity, but the soldiers got there before the strikers and dispersed the meeting, ordering the men to their homes.

Prepare to Resume Work.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 16.—That there is a positive assurance of the end of the strike of the anthracite miners seems certain today in view of the preparations which are being made all through the Lackawanna valley for the resumption of work. When the resumption takes place the backlogs will be run to the utmost capacity.

Call for Troops.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 16.—Frank Pardee of A. Pardee & Co. made a demand on the governor for troops this afternoon. The Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal company has also requested that soldiers be sent to McAdoo. These requests, if complied with, will have the effect of bringing troops into Luzerne county for the first time since the strike began.

A WASHINGTON TRAGEDY.

Son-in-Law of Senator Blackburn,
Brooding Over Ill-Health,
Shoots Himself.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Thomas F. Lane, son-in-law of Senator Blackburn, committed suicide at his home near here last night. Mr. Lane entered the house about 11 p. m. and shot himself in the presence of his little daughter while his wife was resting on a couch in an adjoining room. Death was almost instantaneous.

Mr. Lane was the American representative of the London ordinance firm of Vickers Sons & Maxim. He was well-to-do, prominently connected and a familiar figure in Washington society. It is said that he was driven to the act by brooding over his ill-health. He was told some time ago that he had Bright's disease and he allowed the matter to prey on his mind.

His wife, who was Lucille Blackburn, had a narrow escape from death by a pistol wound about three years ago. The Lanes were then living at the Hotel Wellington. Mr. Lane was out of town much of the time and Mrs. Lane kept a loaded revolver in her bureau drawer. One night she was found in her room with a bullet wound in her breast, and it was explained by the family that in taking some lace from the drawer the pistol had been lifted up and falling on the hammer exploded. She lingered between life and death for some time, but ultimately recovered. The shock of last night's tragedy completely prostrated her and she is now under the constant care of a physician.

Senator Blackburn was in Hagerstown, Md., last night when the news of the suicide reached him. He had been on a campaign tour of the state. He left as soon as possible for Washington and it is likely that the occurrence will force him to abandon any further active work in the campaign.

Thomas F. Lane was a native of New Hampshire, but his parents moved to Tamaqua, N. J., when he was a boy, and he spent many years there. He was well known in Louisville, Ky., where he met Miss Blackburn. On moving to Washington some years ago he held a position as chief of one of the bureaus in the treasury department.

DUEL WITHOUT RESULT.

French Count Meets a Journalist
Near Paris but Neither Is Hit.

Paris, Oct. 16.—M. Urbain Gohier, the anti-military journalist, author of the book "Army Against the Nation," which created a sensation in 1895, fought a duel with pistol today, his opponent being Count de Sahran Pontevres, without any result. The dispute which led to the meeting was an article published in the Amorce which the count considered offensive to him.

Count Boni de Castellane was one of the Count de Sahran Pontevres' second. Count de Sahran Pontevres was one of the young Royalists arrested in August, 1889, on the charge of engaging in the demonstration against President Loubet at the Amel race course.

M. Urbain Gohier was tried March, 1890, on the charge of insulting the French army by the publication of his book, "The Army Against the Nation." He was acquitted.

M. Gohier fought a duel October 18, 1890, with M. Mercier, a son of the former minister of war, who came into prominence during the Dreyfus trial. M. Mercier was slightly wounded in the chest. Swords were the weapons.

PASSENGERS INJURED.

Street Car and Freight Car Come
Together with Great Force
During a Fog.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—Fourteen persons were injured in a street-car collision today on the line between Seattle and Renton. A passenger car bound to the city met a freight car in a heavy fog. The cars came together with great force. The injured, who principally sustained cuts and bruises, are:

SWARM OF BATS AND BIRDS.

Experience of the Steamer Curityha
200 Miles Off Florida Coast.

New York, Oct. 16.—Two eagles, captured far out to sea from amid swarms of bats, owls and many kinds of land birds, all waifs, carried off presumably by storm winds, were brought to this port by the steamer Curityha of the Munson line from Cuba.

According to the story of Mate Bryman and the sailors, the ship was making good headway toward the United States when, about 200 miles off the coast of Florida, the air began to darken and there whirled about the vessel a cloud of bats. The bats welcomed the ship as a resting place, and in a little while every rail and rope was strung with them, all hanging head downward. When the bats were gone there came swarms of birds. These, like the bats, seemed to have been caught in a storm and swept away from land and were in search of a landing place.

Miners' Demands.

FORMAL NOTICE ISSUED.

Result of a Conference Held at Philadelphia Ten Per Cent. Increase
Until the Year 1901.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17.—The conference between the individual coal operators and the representatives of the big coal-carrying companies with a view to bringing about the termination of the anthracite coal strike was resumed this morning in the private office of President Harris of the Reading Railway company. The first to arrive in the conference room were George F. Baer and John Lowber Welsh, directors of the Reading company, and the reported representatives of the Morgan interests in that company. President Harris and General Manager Henderson of the Philadelphia Coal and Iron company were the next to arrive. In quick succession came John B. Garrett, vice-president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company; Congressman William Connell of Scranton; Dr. Herbert M. Howe, representing A. Pardee & Co., and M. S. Kemmerer of Mauch Chunk, representing Kemmerer & Whitney. The conference began shortly after 9 o'clock and was in session about fifteen minutes, when Mr. Garrett was called to the long-distance telephone for a talk with someone in New York. He returned immediately to the conference room.

Abolition of Sliding Scale.

The question of abolition of the sliding scale, which is in operation in the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions only, was again a subject for discussion. It was agreed by the individual operators that the scale be abolished, but such a move was opposed by the two interests involved, their representatives claiming that it is the most equitable system of wage payments that can be evolved.

The conference resulted in an agreement to accede to the demands made by the Mineworkers' convention. The Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company at once issued the following statement:

Operators Give In.
"This company withdraws the notice posted October 3, 1900, and, in bringing about practical uniformity in the advance of wages in the several coal regions, gives notice that it will suspend the operation of the sliding scale, will pay 10 per cent. advance on September wages till April 1, 1901, and thereafter until further notice, and will take up with its mine employees any grievances which they may have."

The Lehigh Valley company, in whose region the sliding scale is also in operation, will issue a similar notice, as will also the individual operators who were represented at the meeting. This meets all the demands of the strikers and means the immediate ending of the strike.

Late this afternoon the Lehigh Valley Railway company announced that it will adopt the same course as announced in the statement by the Reading company. This applies to the Schuylkill region operated by the Lehigh company. With regard to the Wyoming region, where the sliding scale is not in use, the official advice has been received from the management of the company.

Enger to Return to Work.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 17.—President Mitchell when shown the statement issued by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company said he would be glad indeed to know that the anthracite operators had decided to change the notices previously posted, so as to comply with the provisions of the resolution adopted at the Scranton convention.

The announcement of the action of the conferees at Philadelphia was received here with demonstrations of joy, as all believe it means a speedy return to work at better wages.

CHICAGO GAS WAR.

Settlement Effected by Withdrawal of Municipal Company—Gas at $1 Per 1000 Feet.

New York, Oct. 17.—A Wall street news bureau says: "The settlement of the Chicago gas war was effected at 5 o'clock this morning at a conference at the Holland house. The People's Gas company will withdraw from the territory heretofore occupied by the Ogden Gas company and the Municipal Gas company, which has been the agent of the People's company and obtains its gas from the latter, has raised the price of gas to $1 per $1000 feet. This means the retirement of the Municipal Gas company from the scene of action, and leaves the field to the Ogden and the People's Gas companies alone."

A SHAKESPEARE DYING.

Offspring of Immortal Bard Reported
Starving at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 17.—Rev. William Shakespeare, said to be a descendant of the immortal genius, is starving to death in Atlanta. This shocking fact was brought to the knowledge of the Baptist ministers of Atlanta at their conference at the First church by Rev. I. G. Brown, who stated that he had found a man who gave his name as Shakespeare and who stated that he was a Baptist minister, which fact he proved by producing credentials that establish his claim. His connection with the English Shakespeare is claimed to be unmistakable. The ministers are making provisions for his comfort and treatment for the disease from which he is suffering.

STUDENTS SUSPENDED.

Drastic Action of Wooster Faculty
Following "Nightshirt" Parade.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—A "nightshirt" parade at Wooster university has caused the suspension of forty-eight students by the faculty. One hundred students who feel those suspended have been treated unjustly have signed an agreement to leave the institution unless the forty-eight are reinstated. The "nightshirt" parade is an annual event at the university, and in spite of many warnings the students, 300 in number, carried out their custom of parading the town and shocked its good people.

BIG OREGON HOP CROP.

Estimated that it will Reach 90,000
Bales This Year.

Amherst, O., Oct. 17.—In the opinion of well-known hop buyers here, the crop of the state will reach at least 90,000 bales, an increase of about 10,000 bales over the yield of 1899. Exact figures are not yet obtainable, but the buyers say that reports so far received warrant the foregoing statement; also that the hops are of fine quality and sell readily at 14 and 14½ cents a pound, with a few sales at 15½ cents. Last year prices ranged from 4 to 6 cents per pound, or less than choice '99 hops bring today.

W. L. WILSON IS DEAD.

Author of Democratic Tariff Act of 1892 and Subsequently Postmaster-General.

Lexington, Va., Oct. 17. (AP)—Postmaster-General William L. Wilson died suddenly this morning at 10 o'clock.

William L. Wilson, author of the Democratic tariff measure which was passed by Congress in 1892, and subsequently postmaster-general in the cabinet of President Cleveland, was born in Jefferson county, Va., May 2, 1837. He was educated at Charleston academy, and at Columbian college, District of Columbia.

THE LATE W. L. WILSON.

Wilson, where he graduated in 1860, and at the University of Virginia; served in the Confederate army; was a delegate in 1880 to the national Democratic convention at Cincinnati, and was chosen an elector for the state-at-large on the Hancock ticket; was elected president of the West Virginia university in 1882; nominated as the Democratic candidate for the Forty-eighth Congress and elected; received the degree of LL. D. from Columbian university in 1887 and from Hampden Sidney college, Virginia, in 1890; was elected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses. On retiring from the cabinet at the close of Mr. Cleveland's administration Mr. Wilson was elected president of Washington and Lee university.

ESCAPE CUT OFF.

Eight People Burned to Death or Suffocated in Tenement House Fire.

New York, Oct. 17.—Eight people were either burned to death or suffocated in a fire which partially destroyed the three-story and attic frame double tenement house, 45 and 45½ Hester street, early today.

The dead:

SARAH SASS, 36 years old.
SAMUEL SASS, 13.
LENA SASS, 9.
MORRIS SASS, 2.
MRS. HOROWITZ, 46.
ROSA LEWIS, 52.
MANUEL STRAUSS, 20.
SAMUEL STRAUSS, 20.

Mary Murray, 40, was severely burned about the back and was taken to a hospital.

The fire was discovered shortly after 1:30 o'clock by the janitor of the building. He ran out into the hall to find it ablaze. His shouts aroused the others in the house, but the flames had already gained firmer headway and few of those in the building had time to save themselves by the stairs.

On the third floor of No. 45 lived Charles Sass, his wife and four children. His mother-in-law and Mrs. Horowitz, Sass took the child nearest at hand and rushed to the fire escape. He managed to get down to the balcony on the front of the building on the second floor and supposed that his wife and the others were following him. Mrs. Horowitz was the only one who followed him, however. She took the child from his arms when she saw their escape cut off and cried to a policeman below to catch it. The policeman held out his arms and as the child fell he caught it safely and shouted to her to drop. Sass had already lunged down and dropped to the ground. Mrs. Horowitz was about to drop when flames suddenly burst through an awning on the first floor with such fury that she was driven back against the wall and her only escape cut off. So fierce were the flames that burst at the same time from the awning below, from the window behind her and from the floor of the balcony under her feet that it was impossible for the firemen to rescue her. On the balcony, only a few feet from the ground, but hedged in on all sides by flame, she was burned to death before the eyes of the terrified crowd gathered in the streets. Mrs. Sass with little Morris had been unable to get further than the window when they were both overcome by smoke and perished. Lena Sass ran into the hallway and was caught by the flames there and died. Samuel tried to rescue Mrs. Rosa Lewis from the flames but was unsuccessful and they perished together. Their bodies were found in the hallway, the lad's arms still clasped about the aged woman's waist as though he had died while trying to drag her out.

The front room in the attic was occupied by Mendel Strauss and his son Samuel. Both were suffocated before they could escape.

Mary Murray and Mary Martin, scrub-women, who lived in an apartment back of the Strauss', were awakened by the smoke and cries and started down the rear stairway, reaching the ground in safety. On the stairs the Martin woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were beaten out by Mrs. Murray, who was slightly burned in the back.

The loss by fire is estimated at $6000.

During Dr. Senn's lifetime he will have the privilege of designating patients for the room, who will be cared for without expense. The interest from the endowment fund will more than maintain the room. Few outside of the hospital knew of the gift or that the room was being fitted up until it was completed.

DECLARED TO BE A FRAUD.

Edict Ordering the Punishment of Chinese Officials.

AUTHENTICITY DENIED.

Connected for Purpose of Preventing Advance of Allies on Pao Ting Fu.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—M. Tillet, charge d'affaires of the French embassy, today presented a memorandum to the state department from the French government asking that peace negotiations with China begin immediately, in accordance with the favorable action of the powers on the recent French note.

Peking, Monday, Oct. 15.—It is regarded as certain that the alleged imperial edict ordering the punishment of high officials was forged and was connected with the object of preventing the advance of the allies on Pao Ting Fu. Both Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang deny its authenticity.

Count von Waldersee is expected to arrive here October 17.

Small marauding bands have become troublesome in the vicinity of the summer palace, and a punitive expedition is being organized to proceed against them. There is renewed activity among the Boxers south of Peking. The imperial troops claim that they can suppress the Boxers, but the allies may send an expedition against the rebels.

United States Minister Conger and Gen. Chichester and Wilson returned Li Hung Chang's visit this afternoon.

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang are conferring for the purpose of fixing a date with the ministers.

Conger Returns Thanks.

Victor, B. C., Oct. 17.—The following letter was given by United States Minister Conger to the missionaries at Peking: "Respected American missionaries, one and all of you, so providentially saved from certain massacres, I desire in this hour of deliverance to express what I know to be the universal sentiment of our diplomatic corps sincere appreciation of, and profound gratitude for inestimable help which the native Christians under your care have rendered towards our preservation. Without your intelligent and successful planning, I believe our salvation would have been impossible. By your courteous patience under most trying conditions, I have been most deeply touched, and for it all I thank you most heartily. I hope and believe that in God's unerring plan your sacrifices and danger will bear fruit in a material and spiritual welfare of people to whom you have so nobly devoted your lives and work. Assuring you of my personal respect and gratitude. Very sincerely yours, 'E. H. CONGER'."

AN INDEPENDENT POLICY.

Russian Acts with Allies Simply to Subserve Russian Interests.

London, Oct. 17.—Russia, it appears from the dispatches, has abandoned the concert of powers in China and is only acting with the allies insofar as Russian interests can be subserved. There have been indications of Russia's disposition to ignore the concert for some time and now, beside permitting this fact to be published and to go unheeded, the Czar has undertaken to control the revenues of the Chinese province of New Chuang. A dispatch in the Times from Shanghai on October 16 says: "All the customs revenue of New Chuang is now being paid into a bank named by Russia. The money is to be eventually dealt with as arranged between Russia and China. If the Russian example is followed by other powers, China must default over her loans, and there will be a general scramble to secure what is possible of the customs revenue. The interests of bondholders seem to require that an embargo at once be put on the treaty port revenues and the payment of the same be made to a foreign receiver in trust for all concerned. Heavy failures of native banks are reported here."

No Surprise in Washington.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The cable dispatch from St. Petersburg, indicating that Russia's attitude in China will be independent of the concert of the powers, caused no surprise among officials here. It was noted when the aggressive military movement was begun by Germany and the expedition against Pao Ting Fu started, that Russia was among the powers which did not join in the movement.

The report from St. Petersburg is looked upon as merely another step similar to that taken when Russia withheld support from the Two Big Powers against their other aggressive military moves. Moreover, it is regarded as quite in consonance with the pacific tendencies of this government, which have been directed all along to securing a settlement by diplomatic means rather than by the sword.

but coming so late in the season the loss was nothing to what it would have been earlier. Much of the low land looked like a lake during the freshest.

Mrs. Henry Martindale died at her home in this city on Monday after an illness of several months, cause of death being dropsy. The funeral occurred on Wednesday from the Catholic church.
The deceased had been a resident of this city for many years. Mr. Martin survives his wife.

—I wish to express my thanks to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, for having put on the market such a wonderful medicine," says W. W. Mass-ingill, of Beaumont, Texas. There are thousands of mothers whose children have been saved from attacks of dysentery and cholera infantum who must also feel thankful. It is for sale at Johnson & Hill Co.'s drug store.

The Marshfield & Southeastern will run an excursion down from Marshfield this evening to enable those who wish to hear Mr. Lafollette speak to do so, it having been impossible for him to arrange a date for Marshfield.
The Second Regiment band will accompany the excursionists.

Work on the toll line between this city and Marshfield has been begun and the route between Pittsville and Marshfield has been surveyed. The wet weather interfered with work considerably in the start but the indications are that it will advance rapidly
now. The gang started in on the work at Pittsville.

—On the 10th of December, 1897, Rev.
S. A. Donahoe, pastor M. E. church,
South, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., contracted a severe cold which was attended from the beginning by violent coughing. He says: "After resorting to a number of so-called 'specifics', usually kept in the house, to no purpose, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy, which acted like a charm. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

Cards are out announcing the coming wedding of Peter Holberg and Miss

A. M. Paine of the General Electric company of Chicago, who has established numerous water supply plants throughout the country, was in the city on Thursday and met a number of the business men who are interested in the new water works system.
Nothing was done of a definite nature but Mr. Paine gave some information concerning electrically operated plants and is ready at anytime the people decide on what they want to put in a bid for the work.

—There is plenty of singing and dancing in "Two Married Men," which will be the attraction for one night at the opera house next Saturday, Oct.
27. "Two Married Men" toured the country last year playing only the larger cities, and so has the endorsement of thousands of theatregoers.
It isn't a new play; it has been tried and proven and as the company this year is better than last, Manager Whitney's patrons may expect something way above the average.

—During the winter of 1897 Mr.
James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co.
W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whisky in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequaled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Johnson &

TREASURES OF THE SEA.

British Fishermen Make Valuable Hauls from Wrecked Vessels.

There still exists on our coasts a class of men known as "hovelers," or swimmers—a modernized survival of the old wrecker fraternity—that earn a livelihood by the recovery of wreckage. During the summer months of last year upward of 140 tons of anchors and chains were dragged from the bed of the sea in the Downs and Yarmouth roads alone. The hardy fishermen of the North sea frequently make valuable hauls in the shape of derelict or distressed vessels, or of sunken goods that become entangled in their fishing gear.

A few months ago a large vessel, carrying a general cargo, grounded and became waterlogged on a sandbank off the east coast. In a few hours a host of fishing boats of various nationalities gathered, with the intention of salvaging the wreck. Feeling run so high over the looting that followed that a gunboat had to be dispatched to preserve order.

Tons of fish were returned to the sea and replaced by pianos, cases of candles, toys and ironware and the varied collection of goods that constitute a ship's cargo and outfit, until the Trinity House authorities, recognizing that the wreck was dangerous to navigation, ordered their men to remove the wreckage off the spot and themselves taking charge.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh.

Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and muffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head, nose and throat. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 54 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Water Cure in Germany. In no other country has hydrotherapy reached such a state of perfection as in Germany. Almost everything is cured, or attempted to be cured, by water.

Besides the numerous watering places, plain and fashionable, there are dozens of water-cure institutions throughout the empire, and suffering mankind is crowding all of them. The University of Berlin has recognized the importance of this branch of medicine and decided upon erecting from October next a special chair for hydrotherapy, which will be occupied by Dr. Brigger of Berlin.

At the Charité, well known also in the United States, arrangements have been made for classes where the professor's theories will find practical application.—Bremen letter in the Chicago Record.

What Do the Children Drink? Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee.

The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

AUTUMN HAT.

The hats of the new season are all large, and in many cases massive. This handsome model in several tones of tan is an example of the playfully effective seen in the shops of the best modistes. The hat here is of a rich shade of brown velvet, the front O'Shanter crown of tan panne velvet and the plumes of shagreened brown. A cream gauze application at the left side gives the finishing touch.

IN GAY NEW YORK.

James Brown Potter and his daughter, Miss Elin Potter, who went abroad early in the season, have returned to their estate on Cliff Avenue, Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel have decided to spend the winter abroad. Mr. Drexel is now on his way here on the Deutschland, but after a short stay will return to his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel are also on their way here for a short visit among relatives and friends in Philadelphia. They will also soon return to Europe and spend the winter abroad.

The marriage of Miss Jeanne Ross Edwards and Charles C. Dehnbach, proprietor of the well-known restaurant bearing his name, was celebrated at the home of the bride's father, John F. Edwards, 119 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn. Mrs. Dehnbach is 22 years old, extremely pretty and clever. Mr. Dehnbach met Miss Edwards at Virginia Hot Springs last winter.

Lady Savile, who has been entertaining the Prince of Wales, with other nobles, at a house party in England, was formerly Mrs. Hellyar, who fifteen years ago when she was the wife of an attaché of the English embassy at Washington, was well known in New York and Newport society. She was then a tall and willowy blonde with a superb figure. She returned to England about twelve years ago, and two years after her husband's death, which occurred about that time, married Lord Savile.

Mrs. Potter Palmer closed her season at Paris with a dinner, followed by a musical. Among the guests were the German ambassador, Prince de Munster, Charlemagne Tower, the American minister to Russia, and Mrs. Tower, the Danish minister and Mrs. De Haver, said forth that the defendant is the wife of Lord Francis Hope and is known by her husband's name as well as her stage name. He asks that if any judgment be rendered against her it may be declared a lien on any property which she may now own or subsequently may become possessed of by inheritance.

Miss Maudie Adams will follow Francis Wilson at the Knickerbocker theater on Monday, October 22. She will then present for the first time here Edmund Rostand's latest play, "L'Aiglon," which has been adapted into English for her by Louis A. Parker, one of the authors of "Rosemary." A departure in the manner of the operatic sales of seats has been made for this attraction. Ordinarily, when a play is to be produced, orders for seats are received by mail at the box office. It has been decided, in order that no complaint can be made or dissatisfaction expressed, to present to the public an entirely clean box-office sheet, no advance orders for seats being received by mail or otherwise. The only seats crossed off the sheet for the first night will be the usual ones reserved for the press.

It is reported that the famous statue of Balzac by Rodin, the French sculptor, has been bought by George Gould. The French Society of Men of Letters decided a few years ago to erect a memorial to the man who is considered to have been the keenest analyst of human nature. The commission was given to Auguste Rodin. Rodin took nearly a decade to complete his idea. In last year's salon he exhibited the plaster model of the statue. What he displayed was something brutal, grotesque, almost shaggy, hideous, gross. It was a figure swathed in a heavy robe, which concealed all the outlines. The head, thrown back, was of savage aspect, cavernous eyes, a nose like a bird's beak, the mouth of a beast. Everyone was horrified, scandalized. There were protests from every side. The statue was declared to be a monstrosity. The attraction was assumed of having offered French literature a colossal insult. The Society of Men of Letters rejected the work.

The great question of realistic expression versus ideal suggestion in plastic art was fiercely argued. One critic declared Rodin had sought to show "the soul of Balzac, the boundless self-assertion of the great workman, the flaring spirit of one given to labor and triumph?" in other words, the statue was not a portrait but a symbol. It expressed everything that made Balzac what he was.

Rodin's own explanation was not elucidating. He said: "I feel that I have realized my conception absolutely. I wished to show the great worker hampered by night with an idea and rising to transcend it at his writing desk. I thought of him as foregoing the new attacks that he would be submitted to and disdaining them."

Rev. Braddon Hamilton, who preaches to fashionable audiences in Newport, has pronounced views on what he calls the errors of society, and he is not afraid to express them.

"It has become very common, in fact, almost a prevailing custom among the younger married people," he says in an article published by the Smart Set, "to be seen in public with persons other than their own life partners. In fact, there is many a married woman who thinks it not the smart thing to be seen on parade with her own husband. I have sympathy with such a custom."

"Another reprehensible custom that appears to exist to some little degree is that of married men sending flowers to other men's wives."

"Another idea that has of late years crept into society is the idea of the male private secretary for women."

"The recent tragic death of a young woman of good family, alone in her room, with no one within reach but one of those male private secretaries, was an incident that ought to move even hearts of stone to pity; was an incident that revealed to this community a condition of things in an apparently model home that was pitiable beyond any language to express."

"The chronic beaux and society's mid-aged bachelors are no good generally. All they seem to possess are a badly-battered physique, poor clothing, and a strong thirst. The bright, worthy young men seem to be too deeply engrossed in business to give society much attention."

"In conclusion, the greatest need of society at the present time is better leadership—that of men and women who are capable of suggesting and planning society's amusements; men and women of education, culture and refinement who have brains enough to think out results before suggesting amusements and sufficient force of character to stand by their ideas."

A Street-Railway Boycott.

Two months ago the city council of Montgomery, Ala., passed an ordinance requiring that the street car company provide separate seats for white and colored passengers. The company gave the white forward seats, making no difference as to comfort or convenience. Now the colored people are boycotting the cars and the company's receipts have fallen off alarmingly.

How Russia Corners Sugar.

Each year the minister of finance fixes the amount of sugar which shall be produced in the empire, and sets the price at which it shall be sold. The average production is about 1,000,000 tons, but only 700,000 tons are allowed to be sold. The remainder is the legal basis of production which is paid upon the market during the year. In addition to this it is allowed to manufacture 150,000,000 pounds more, which is placed in storage. The 150,000,000 pounds, as it is sold, pays an excise tax of 25 cents a pound. If at any time, through increased demand, sugar becomes worth more than the price fixed by the government, the 150,000,000 pounds in reserve is allowed to reach the market free of excise duty. If this does not satisfy the market at the fixed price the government itself will buy from foreign countries enough sugar to supply the need for a year or more. This system, of course, precludes any export business in sugar, but the Russian government does not believe that the exporting of sugar from Russia can be made profitable or advisable, so it does not encourage it.—Fortnightly Review.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer today to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. One-fourth the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

Children Like Colors.

Matrons of infant asylums say that a young infant will often be cross all day if dressed in a gray frock, but contented and happy if dressed in a bright red frock. Children from 2 to 4 years old are much less affected by the color of their dress. It is commonly observed in kindergartens that the younger children prefer the red playthings, while the older children prefer the blue.

Best for the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. ## WOMAN'S KIDNEY TROUBLES

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing this Fatal Woman's Disease.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women.

The following letters will show how marvelously successful it is:

Aug. 6, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am falling very fast, since January have lost thirty-five or forty pounds. I have a yellow, muddy complexion, feel tired, and have bearing down pains. Menstrues have not appeared for three months; sometimes I am troubled with a white discharge, and I also have kidney and bladder trouble. I have been this way for a long time, and feel so miserable I thought I would write to you, and see if you could do me any good."—Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

Sept. 10, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound according to directions, and can say I have not felt so well for years as I do at present. Before taking your medicine a more miserable person you never saw. I could not eat or sleep, and did not care to talk with any one. I did not enjoy life at all. Now, I feel so well I cannot be grateful enough for what you have done for me. You are surely a woman's friend. Thanking you a thousand times, I remain, Ever yours, Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it enough. I had headaches, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, and kidney trouble. I also had a pain when standing or walking, and sometimes there seemed to be balls of fire in front of me, so that I could not see for about twenty minutes. Felt as tired in the morning when I got up as if I had had no sleep for two weeks. Had fainting spells, was down-hearted, and would cry."—MRS. BETTIE OPPER, Second and Clayton Sts., Chester Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot find language to express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I had female trouble, also liver, stomach, kidney, and bladder trouble. I tried several doctors, also quite a number of patent medicines, and had despaired of ever getting well. At last I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, thanks to you, medicine, I am a well woman. I can not praise your medicine too highly for I know it will do all, and even more, than it is recommended to do. I tell every suffering woman about your Vegetable Compound, and urge them to try it and see for themselves what it will do."—MRS. MARY A. HUPPE, No. Manchester, Ind.

leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, and kidney trouble. I also had a pain when standing or walking, and sometimes there seemed to be balls of fire in front of me, so that I could not see for about twenty minutes. Felt as tired in the morning when I got up as if I had had no sleep for two weeks. Had fainting spells, was down-hearted, and would cry."—MRS. BETTIE OPPER, Second and Clayton Sts., Chester Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot find language to express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I had female trouble, also liver, stomach, kidney, and bladder trouble. I tried several doctors, also quite a number of patent medicines, and had despaired of ever getting well. At last I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, thanks to you, medicine, I am a well woman. I can not praise your medicine too highly for I know it will do all, and even more, than it is recommended to do. I tell every suffering woman about your Vegetable Compound, and urge them to try it and see for themselves what it will do."—MRS. MARY A. HUPPE, No. Manchester, Ind.

YESPER.

Mr. Rote writes from Union Grove that they are having fine weather down there and that he had just hauled in his pumpkins. He says that many of them were all a man could lift into the wagon. He is well pleased with the crops.

Aug. Krebs built a cellar a short distance east of his house and then moved his house on it, completing the work Tuesday. Mr. Krebs has one of the finest locations in this part of the county. Moody Bros. did the mason work.

A letter from Archie Rozell states that the rainy weather still continues and that the farmers are unable to do their threshing. Harve Dunken is in Minnesota laying pipe in a mine. Archie is still in North Dakota.

Mrs. F. W. Merrill has been suffering from a severe attack of typhoid fever for the past three weeks. We are glad to be able to announce that she is on the mend now.

Mrs. J. P. Sanders returned from Dover Wednesday, where she has been the past two weeks visiting with relatives.

Will Sanders left Tuesday morning for Three Lakes, where he is thinking some of locating if he likes the country.

Mike Cahill is having the chimneys built and the house plastered this week.

CRANMOOR.

The cranberry crop of this section is rapidly becoming disseminated to various parts of the country. The demand for good berries has been so active that three times as many would have found a ready market. But for the deadly frost of June 30 this supply would have matured and would not have affected prices which are better than last year.

The Cranmoor Cranberry company (W. H. Fitch and family) shipped their crop of berries to Kansas City Friday. Melvin Potter and S. N. Whittlesey also shipped some fine berries to same point the same day.

Thursday afternoon the platform at station was filled with barrels for the way freight. Several growers happened to be sending out small orders at the same time and the aggregate amounted to nearly a car load.

Harry Abrams was at the Whittlesey marsh a few days helping mill the berries. Upon his return home Wednesday evening he was the victim of a surprise party by the young people of the neighborhood.

Edward Kruger now has quite a crew of pickers and if the fine weather holds out a little longer will probably get in all his berries, somewhere about a hundred barrels.

Chas. and Harriet Whittlesey were at home from Friday evening till Monday morning when they returned to their schools at Port Edwards and Dist. No. 4.

Bert Palmer, paymaster for the John Arpin Co., made a friendly call and inspected the marsh of his old friends the Whittlesey family Thursday afternoon.

Miss Granger teacher of the south school went to Grand Rapids on the five p. m. train Friday and returned Sunday evening.

Miss Lillie Warner and her brother Gilman wheeled down to Sunday school last Sabbath morning.

Miss Emma Lessie of Randolph visited her sister Mrs. Robt. Rezin from Saturday till Monday.

Robt. Rezin and family and Miss Lessie visited the family of A. E. Bennett Sunday afternoon.

Timothy Foley made a business trip to Tomah Tuesday night, returning home next evening.

Harry Whittlesey attended the surprise party at Harry Abrams Wednesday night.

A. E. Bennett and Richard Rezin drove over to Elm Lake and Aldorf Sunday.

Mrs. Matt Carey came down Saturday and remained till Wednesday.

Mrs. Cohn took the train north Tuesday afternoon.

GENERAL COUNTY.

Peter C. Johnson residing in section ten in the town of Rock lost seven valuable sheep last Thursday night or Friday morning and the killing bears the earmarks of the work of wolves. Mr. Johnson counted his sheep Friday morning preparatory to shipping a portion of them at this city and found he was seven short. He immediately instituted a search and found the bodies of three sheep which bore every evidence of having been killed by wolves. The town of Rock pays a bounty of $2 in addition to the state and county bounty of $10 for wolves, which affords an excellent opportunity for some of our star hunters to combine the enjoyment of the chase with profitable employment.—Marshfield Times.

After a brief illness Mrs. Wm. News passed away last Wednesday at the family residence in the town of Aunabradale at the age of 57 years. No family is better known or more highly esteemed in that community and the news of Mrs. News death was a shock to her large circle of friends. She is survived by her bereaved husband and eight children, the youngest of whom is less than two weeks of age. The funeral which was held last Thursday, numbered about fifty families in carriages, being one of the largest ever held in Aunabradale.

Assemblyman A. E. Gerner was slightly injured and badly shaken up on Tuesday in a runaway accident. He was driving to Marshfield with a spirited team when a break in the harness allowed the pole to drop to the ground. This frightened the animals and in the runaway Mr. Gerner was dragged some distance. The team ran until thoroughly exhausted. Considering the circumstances he believes himself fortunate in escaping with a few bruises.

Mrs. Peter Jensen died at Nasonville last Sunday night after a three days illness caused by pneumonia. She was 72 years of age and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. John Anderson. The funeral was held on Tuesday and the remains laid at rest in Nasonville cemetery.

MARSHFIELD ITEMS.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, occurs the marriage of Miss Agnes C. C. of Aunabradale and Harry A. Messer of Milwaukee at the Presbyterian church in this city.

The case against M. Vincent by D. Levin was won by the latter. Levin sued for $500 and the jury granted him $100.

Lawrence Kohl and Miss Pauline Kodel were married in this city Tuesday morning at the Catholic church.

Mrs. Alvin Gilford died in this city on Monday. She is survived by a husband and infant child.

G. C. Reid died in this city last Friday. He had lived in this section for twenty-five years.

Nellisville defeated the High school team last Sunday by a score of 53 to 0.

A Representative in Congress for the Eighth Congressional District, consisting of the counties of Wood, Portage, Waupaca, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee and Door.

In accordance with section 1 of article XII, of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, the following joint resolutions adopted by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin at the regular session of 1900, are made a part of the foregoing notice, to-wit:

[No. 9, B.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Proposing to amend section 26, of article 8, of the constitution of Wisconsin, relating to good roads.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 26 of article 8 of the constitution of Wisconsin, be amended by adding thereto the following:

The state may, however, appropriate money to be raised by taxation and not in anywise to constitute a public debt, to be used in the construction or improvement of public highways, such construction or improvement to be made in the manner provided by law.

[No. 12, B.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 8.

Proposing an amendment to article XIII of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin to prohibit the laws on.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That article XIII of the constitution be amended by adding a new section, to be numbered and to read as follows: Section 11. No person, association, partnership, or corporation shall promise, offer, or give, for any purpose, to any political committee, or any member or employee thereof, to any candidate for or incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws of this state, or under any town or municipality, of this state, or to any person at the request or for the advantage of all or any of them, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

No political committee and no member or employee thereof, no candidate for and no incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws of this state, or under any town or municipality of this state, shall ask for, or accept, from any person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, or use, in any manner, or for any purpose, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

Any violation of any of the above provisions shall be a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by law, and if any officer or any member of the legislature be guilty thereof, his office shall become vacant.

No person within the purview of this act shall be privileged from testifying in relation to anything therein prohibited, and no person having so testified shall be liable to any prosecution or punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to give his testimony or produce any documentary evidence.

The railroad commissioner and his deputy in the discharge of duty are excepted from the provisions of this amendment.

[No. 16, A.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 13.

Proposing an amendment to article 11 of the constitution of Wisconsin, giving the legislative power to pass a general banking law.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That article 11 of the constitution of the State of Wisconsin be and is hereby amended, by substituting for sections 4 and 5 thereof a new section to be known as section 4 and reading as follows:

Section 4. The legislature shall have power to enact a general banking law for the creation of banks, and for the regulation and supervision of the banking business, provided that the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, be in favor of the passage of such law.

[No. 21, B.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 16.

Proposing an amendment to section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin relating to education.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct and their qualifications, powers, duties, and compensation shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold his office for four years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The state superintendent chosen at the general election in November, 1902, shall hold and continue in his office until the first Monday in July, 1905, and his successor shall be chosen at the time of the next general election in April, 1905. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law.

Given under my hand and official seal at the Capitol in the city of Madison on the 18th day of August, A. D. 1900.

To the County Clerk of Wood County, Wis., Wm. H. Froelich, Secretary of State.

CLAUDE CARRINGTON KILLED. Meets a Violent Death at Colby While at Work.

On Thursday Samuel Carrington received the sad news that his son Claude had been killed at Colby that day while at work in the Colby Stave and Heading company's mill.

Mr. Carrington had been at Colby but a few days having been at work for Dowd & Sons Co. at March until very recently. His death was caused by the bursting of a wheel jointer in the mill, the pieces of which flew in all directions, one part of the casting weighing about 200 pounds striking Mr. Carrington and killing him instantly. The piece of iron was hurled against the unfortunate man with such force that he was carried right through the side of the mill.

The machine that Mr. Carrington had been working at was reported to have been cracked and in a dangerous condition, besides which it was being run at a more rapid rate of speed than is usual on machines of this sort, which added to the risk in running a broken machine.

Mr. Carrington leaves a wife and three children. The remains were brought to this city yesterday and the funeral occurred at two o'clock today. The family have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

Contributed Advice.

Football practice at the High school has been of a more lively sort the last week and supporters of the scarlet and white have a renewed hope that their team will carry off the laurels in future games, yet there is a big chance for improvement, the most costly fault being the lack of team work. They resort too much to individual work and it seems three or four try to run the team at the same time. A little advice once in a while may be all right but the quarter back should be left alone, he will then keep cool and run his team to victory.

The line has good material but is very weak on defensive work, as was demonstrated in a one-sided game between the regular team and made up team of alumni scrubs, who defeated the High school 18 to 6. The scrubs had no signals but made up their plays as they went along, yet the way they tore up the High school line showed there was some '97 spirit there. The scrubs scored in three minutes of play, through the line and around the end as of old, while the High school could not pierce the scrub line and were held for down time and time again. Their only score was made by a long run by Lipke the High school's best all around man. There are no stars in the scrub line up but back of the line Ed McCarthy, W. Corcoran and Smith did as they used to do, while Roenius, Baker and Vincent like mighty warriors carried the youngsters before them. Chickolosky plays good ball for the scrubs at half. This sort of play will soon develop the High school team. Keep it up boys, you're all right. Don't let over confidence be your hoodoo.

Catholic Church Fair.

The fair held by the ladies of the Catholic church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday was a brilliant success from start to finish. The displays of fancy work and useful articles made by the ladies in the booths about the hall were very tasty and found ready sale among those that attended.

The musical programs and suppers were also well attended and it is probable that the net proceeds will be $600.

One of the features Thursday evening was the voting contest, the lucky one receiving the greatest number of votes to receive a doll. Four little tots were candidates for favors, they being Alice Arpin, Gertrude Reiland, Anna Daly, Lodice Chaudos and Ruth McCamley. Gertrude Reiland won the doll and the sum of $127.70 was realized by the contest. Each of the little girls were presented with a doll at the close of the contest so that none of them had to go home disappointed.

The dance was largely attended and Hirzy's orchestra discoursed some sweet music for the occasion. The dancing was kept up until about two o'clock and everyone had a good time.

A Fine Record.

In this issue of the Tribune, Mr. Toland announces the winter term of his famous business training schools. Schools that have revolutionized business college methods in the northwest and made a diploma issued by any of them a guarantee that its holder is competent to fill the most exacting position. Ever since Mr. Toland began advertising in this county he has secured all of the best class of our young people who desired a business education, and has shown his appreciation of the patronage given him by sending the majority of his graduates to good paying positions, in fact we know of none from this county whom he has not assisted. In addition to his business universities at LaCrosse, Eau Claire, Wausau, Monroe and Winona he has recently opened another school at Fairmont, Minn., which bids fair to surpass any of his branch schools. To those desiring an education that will fit them for the best paying positions, the Tribune cordially commends the Toland Universities.

Garrison-Ward Wedding.

On Thursday morning at nine o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Nan E. Ward to Emile B. Garrison, the ceremony taking place at the Catholic parsonage, Rev. F. Van Roosmalen officiating. Miss Nellie Ward, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Orestes Garrison, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ward, on Oak street and sixty-eight guests partook of viands that were served.

The bride presented a handsome appearance attired in white silk, with white silk lace trimming. She also wore white bride's roses. The bride's table was decorated with white bride's roses and smilax and the other tables with white carnations as souvenirs. The house decorations were evergreens and cut flowers and presented a very tasty appearance.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ward and has many warm friends in this city where she has spent the greater part of her life. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garrison of the west side and is a Grand Rapids boy and has many friends to wish him and his handsome bride a happy journey through life. The young couple left on the noon train for Milwaukee and Delafield where they will spend a week among friends.

The bride received a large number of handsome and costly presents from her numerous friends, there being many in cut glass and hand painted china, veritable works of art.

Among those who attended from abroad were Miss Marie La Count, Mrs. C. A. Stange, Mrs. Prue O'Connor of Merrill, Miss Addie Loeper, of Prairie du Chien and Emmanuel Mennett of Stevens Point, Max Garrison of Thorpe and Larry Ward of Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will be at home after Nov. 20th at Port Edwards, where they will reside.

A Paying Crop.

A. W. Moody, who manages the pickle business of Alart & McGuire of Green Bay was in the city Wednesday and Thursday engaged in paying off the farmers for the cucumbers they have raised and delivered to the company during the past season. Mr. Moody reports that the farmers so far have expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the returns received this year and have pretty generally said that they would be pleased to go into the matter more extensively next season. Mr. Moody stated that it was really a surprise to him that the farmers in this section were so favorably impressed with this year's experiments, as the season was so unfavorable in the start that the yield was pretty generally small and nothing like an average year.

Mr. Moody stated that one man near Green Bay this year picked $334 worth of cucumbers from two acres of ground. This was not told to give people the idea that it was an average yield or even an ordinary one, but was merely mentioned as an incident, and to show what enormous productions were made when all the conditions happened to combine so as to produce an abnormal yield.

Next year no contracts will be made with the farmers in this section unless a building is erected here to be used as a salting station. What the cost of a building for this purpose will be can only be told after it is determined what the capacity will be. Mr. Moody says that, from what has been said by the farmers who have tried the experiment of raising cucumbers this year, from 400 to 600 acres can be contracted for. If 500 acres were planted it would mean, with an average yield, the production of 2,000 bushels of cucumbers, which would necessitate the building of a good sized plant, considerably larger than was expected when the experiment was tried this spring.

Some of our business men who are interested in the matter met Mr. Moody on Thursday and talked over the methods and the necessary investment of capital in order to put up the building required by the company and Messrs. Alart & McGuire will submit a plan as soon as they have received positive assurance that the business men here are ready to help them.

Cooper's Speech.

A large crowd turned out Tuesday evening to hear the Hon. H. A. Cooper rip the democratic party up the back and he satisfied the most fastidious in this line. In fact he seemed to forget that his audience might contain some people who had watched the doings of both parties for a number of years past and might have been gifted by the supreme being with a minutia of gray matter with which to think for themselves.

That ice trust down in New York was one of the subjects that received a lot of attention but the numerous other trusts that have been the means of bleeding the working man and farmers were forgotten about to a large extent.

He said, however, that there were other trusts and that no method had as yet been discovered by which they could be dealt with effectively and that no suggestion had ever been made by either party by which these things could be got rid of. Here is where there is cause to differ with Mr. Cooper. The Chicago Times Herald of March, 1899, says:

"Most certainly it should be the duty of congress, in both branches of which the republicans have a majority to abolish or suspend the protective duty on the products of any industry which has been organized into a trust and which has arbitrarily raised the prices of such products."

The St. Paul Pioneer Press in April 1900 said: "The whole list of protected monopolies ought to be brought within the purview of a tariff reform which would enable foreign competition to put a limit on their ability to raise prices."

The republican party has declared against the trusts and promised in times past that everything would be done to dispose of these great bands of organized robbers, and after coming in power they have put on a high tariff where the trusts wanted it in order to carry on their business at a greater profit, instead of cutting down the tariff on articles so that they would come into competition and be manufactured at only a fair profit.

Mark Hanna says "there are no trusts," that "there are good and bad trusts," and that "they don't hurt the laboring man any, anyway," but then Mark has said several things during the past few years that were not in accordance with strict veracity. Nobody, not even the democratic speakers, has denied that there is an ice trust in New York, and we have not heard anyone try to defend the actions of that trust nor try to make the public believe that it is a good thing, but one thing is certain, it is not robbing the people in this immediate vicinity to any appreciable extent. The only wonder is that the republicans do not claim it is an "infant industry" and clamor for a high protective tariff on ice.

The parade before the speech was very nice and the boys looked well with their campaign suits and torches. Most of the torchbearers, however, were mere boys, and seemed to screech louder for Bryan than they did for McKinley. It looked very much as if the republican leaders had not shown proper shrewdness in selecting their boys.

Mr. Cooper's oratorical powers are well developed and he told many funny stories and some pathetic ones, but we doubt very much if the class of talk he dished up would make any votes for his party. Mr. Cooper evidently fancied that he had arrived in a town where the people were only able to understand a very limited amount of the English language and many a republican went home feeling that he had listened to a puerile tirade against his neighbor, as the speaker had said things that he would not say and could not endorse.

The Kauffman-Pittsville Case.

The case of Prof. Kauffman against the city of Pittsville has been tried during the past week and on Tuesday Judge Webb discharged the jury and took the decision of the case in his own hands. There are some fine points of law involved in the case.

Prof. Kauffman was hired to teach at Pittsville by the school board, but after the annual school meeting had been held there was a change of one member in the board, and he did not favor Kauffman as teacher, and as there had been one of the board against him before the election he was now in a minority.

After the annual school meeting Prof. Kauffman was notified not to teach, but he ignored the notice and took charge of the schoolhouse and started school in the usual way. He was notified several times and the school house locked against him, but he always managed to get in and hold school. At last he was carried out of the school room by those who were opposed to him and he brought suit against the city for the recovery of his year's wages. This is the only case of exactly this nature that has occurred in this state so the outcome of the matter is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

The matter has caused a great deal of ill feeling among the different factions in Pittsville as the case had been bitterly contested on both sides before it was brought into court. As we go to press we learn that Judge Webb has decided in favor of Prof. Kauffman and the city will have to pay his year's wages.

Republicans throughout the state do not seem to be very jubilant over the attack made by the Sentinel on Louis Bohmrich. All of the main guys in the republican ranks seem to want it understood that they had nothing to do with the matter and they seem to be unanimous in saying that the attack will hurt their own party more than anyone else. LaFollette should be protected from his friends, as he would undoubtedly get along better without some of them.

CHAPTER XIII.—(Continued.)

"Everything was for me, and every farthing shall be paid when the man who insured my life pays me what he promised to pay."

"He will never do that. He is plotting to get Mrs. Redmond sent to prison, and put you into the hands of the man who will destroy you."

"Then he has done the wrong, not my friend. Oh, you must see that she is not in fault."

"I may have done her an injustice," Nessa said, fiercely, "and you have wronged me, too. Oh, how ill you must think of me—what an ungrateful coward I must be to be out of danger, and leave her to face alone the trouble she had brought upon herself for my sake! But I am not a coward; let them do their worst."

Her nostrils dilated. She set her teeth and knitted her brows as she quickly gathered up the rein that had slipped from her hand.

"What are you going to do?" Eric cried, in entreaty, again putting his hand upon the rein.

"I am going to my friend," she answered, resolutely. "Please take your hand from the rein."

"I can try. I can tell the truth, and no one can convict my friend when the truth is known. I must call for help if you detain me."

"One moment, I implore you. You are throwing your life away. It is not my opinion, but the assurance of the police themselves. You cannot save your friend, but I can. And I will, though you do not know how much it costs me."

She had reason to remember those words later on, with aching regret; at the moment they inspired hope. Again she bent down to listen to his scarcely audible voice. He was speaking rather to himself than to her, as he hurriedly murmured:

"Surely it can be done. We shall find means. It is your life that has to be saved. That is what I have to think of."

"You say you will save her?" said Nessa.

"Yes, if you will save yourself."

"What am I to do?"

"Go to some place of safety, and stay there until I bring your friend to you."

"I will go to your father."

"No," said Eric, shaking his head in sadness; "you must not go to him."

Nessa's mind was too much occupied with the thought of her friend's escape to see the significance of this prohibition.

"I could go to the riding school in Finsbury," she suggested, quickly.

"Yes, that is well. That gentleman will take care of you. Wait patiently. I will save your friend."

"Oh, if you do. I will never forget you."

"That is something," said Eric to himself as he turned away. "She will never forget me."

CHAPTER XIV.

Nessa and the riding master passed him rapidly as Eric reached the hansom. He followed her with his eyes, his heart aching with regret as he remembered the eager joy of watching for her coming day after day, and realizing that henceforth he was never more to look for that dear face. By an effort of resolution he turned away, that he might concentrate all his thought on the thing he had undertaken to do for her.

After a minute's reflection he said to the cabman, putting a sovereign into his hand:

"First, drive back to the house where you set me down."

"The Pines, sir?"

"Yes; but go back by a different way, so that your horse's head is toward Charing Cross."

"I understand, sir."

"I shall go into the house. But someone else will come out and get into the cab. You will be ready to start at any moment; you will not wait for anything; but the instant that person is in the cab you will go."

"Like a shot."

"That is so. Two men are in front of the house."

"I see 'em, sir. One passed the time o' day to me; but I never enter into no conversation with anyone when I've got a gentleman fare."

"Good! These men may try to stop you; but you must not let them."

"I'll give 'em a doing if they try."

"When they are quite out of sight, you will open the trap, and take your directions from the person inside. When you have set down that person, you will take this card to the Charing Cross Hotel. If I am not there, my father will give you payment."

He gave the card on which he had written a few words to his father while concluding his instructions, and sprang into the hansom. The driver started off at a speed that showed his determination to earn his pay.

The laborers were still waiting at the corner of the street. There were two gates to the drive that formed a semi-circle before the house; the first stood open. Eric entered by the next, which he flung back in passing. The cab drew up before that one, as being the furthest removed from the corner of the street.

Eric sent his card to Mrs. Merrivale, with the words, "on a matter of importance," written under his name. He was shown into a sitting room. Mrs. Merrivale came down in a couple of minutes, with a look of surprise on her face, which was not lessened when she recognized her visitor.

In a few words Eric laid the whole case before her, dwelling only on Nessa's generous refusal to save herself while her friend was in danger. That seemed to interest Mrs. Merrivale far less than the question of her own escape.

"You say those wretches are waiting outside to take me; how am I to get away?" she asked, shaking with fear.

"Will you follow my directions?"

"Certainly."

"You have a carriage?"

"Yes."

"Can you depend on the driver?"

"If it is to his interest."

"I will make it to his interest. Have you any female servant you can trust to help us?"

"You can trust anyone if you make it worth her while to help you. They'll do anything for money."

"Let her dress at once in your clothes—the best you have—the things you would wear if you were going to get things at shops. Let her wear a thick veil that cannot be seen through, and fasten it so that it cannot be raised easily."

"I'll sew it."

"Do not forget to let her wear gloves."

"She shall keep her hands in my muff if she can't get my gloves on."

"At the same time you will dress yourself for going out as simply as possible, not to attract attention. Conceal your hair if you can."

"Yes, yes—I can do that."

"Let another servant pack a valise with a complete change of clothes for Miss Grahame. Hat, gloves—do not forget anything. Her safety—"

"All right, all right," interrupted Mrs. Merrivale, impatiently. "And when we're dressed as you suggest, what then?"

"Then tell your man to be at the door with the carriage—the horse's head to the west, so that the carriage will go out by the gate nearest the corner of the street."

"Yes—what then?"

"I shall get into the carriage with your servant. If they are detectives at the corner of the street, they will stop the carriage before it has gone a dozen yards. The moment you see them occupied in arresting your servant, you will slip out by the other gate and jump into the cab I have left there. The driver has orders to start off at once in the other direction, and as soon as he finds he is out of danger, he will ask you where he is to drive to. You will tell him to take you to Radford's, in Finsbury, where your friend is waiting in dreadful suspense for you."

"Not I," said Mrs. Merrivale, emphatically. "I'm not going to Radford's. I shall make for Victoria, and take the first train that leaves there. I'll wire Nessa where she can find me."

Eric concealed his disgust under a stiff inclination of the head. Perhaps he did not wholly dislike a decision which gave him an opportunity of befriending Nessa a little further.

The carriage drove up to the door as Mrs. Merrivale and the housemaid were coming downstairs—the latter thickly veiled and wearing a sealskin mantle and muff, which her mistress had taken the precaution to pad to her own proportions. She was skilled in this sort of work, and had even added to the disguise a knot of false hair, which shone out below the black veil on the back of the girl's head.

She stood back as Eric opened the door. A round hat and a pair of eyes were visible over the wall between the two gates. Eric gave his arm to the housemaid and led her down to the carriage. Raising his hat he opened the door, and when the girl was seated, he put the portmanteau at the coachman's feet, saying, in a low voice:

"Radford's riding school, in Finsbury. You shall have a pound if you get there in half an hour."

He took his seat beside the housemaid.

"My girl," said he, "I will give you five pounds if you prevent anyone seeing your face for five minutes. A man will try to see your face directly; do not let him succeed."

Anxious to secure his sovereign, the coachman swept down the drive and out into the road in fine style. The laborers made a dart at the horse's head, but the carriage had gone twenty yards before it was brought to a stand. One of the men stepped up and seated himself beside the driver; the other came to the side of the carriage.

"We don't want to make it unpleasant, sir," said he, "but this lady's got to go to the police station with us. You can get out if you like, and I will take your place."

"You will do nothing of the kind. I refuse to let you take this lady anywhere until you show me your authority."

"I can pretty soon do that. I've got the warrant in my pocket, and I know Mrs. Merrivale better than she knows me."

He glanced at the cab, and then plucked at the housemaid's veil; but she was prepared for this, and met the attack so well that two valuable minutes were lost before her veil was removed, and then only with her bonnet and the knot of false hair.

"I thought as much," said his mate, jumping down from the box. "The right one's in that cab, and we're done if we can't catch it up."

With that they bolted off after the rapidly vanishing hansom; while the driver of the victoria, still thinking of the pound to be won, rattled off in the opposite direction.

In Moorgate street Eric stopped the carriage, paid the servants, and taking the portmanteau, told the driver to return to St. John's Wood. In the waiting room of the riding school he found Nessa.

"Where is my friend?" she asked, anxiously, seeing him alone.

"She has escaped; but she thought it better not to come here," Eric replied, with a delicate consideration for the girl's feelings toward Mrs. Redmond, which led him to conceal the woman's selfish motive. "She will telegraph to you here when she has found a secure place where you may join her."

"She feared they might follow her here and find me. For if anyone is guilty it must be I, who incurred all those dreadful debts, you know?"

She spoke in a tone of earnest persuasion, wishing to disabuse this new friend's mind of the prejudice which he and his family obviously entertained against Mrs. Redmond.

"I hope that no one is more guilty than you," Eric replied fervently. "Yes; I wish that with all my heart, for your sake. There is a dress in this valise for you; you may have to make a journey, and it would be impossible in that riding habit."

"Oh, how thoughtful of her!" exclaimed Nessa; "anyone but a true friend would have been concerned only about her own safety at such a time."

"A true friend cannot ever forget," he said, with a touch of sadness, not attempting to disabuse her mind and show that it was he, and not Mrs. Redmond, who had thought of the details.

Nessa called an attendant to take the portmanteau into the ladies' dressing room, and then, turning to Eric, she said:

"I want to thank you for all you have done, but I can find no words that are half nice enough now. Perhaps I may while I am dressing," she added, archly; "will you wait here till I come back?"

"I shall not go away until I must go," When she was gone from the room Eric sat with his face buried in his hands, seeing her face as one sees with closed eyes something of light that has fixed itself upon the retina.

A clerk came into the room and apologized.

"I beg your pardon, sir—I thought Miss Grahame was here," he said.

He had an open paper in his hand. Eric rose.

"You have a telegram for Miss Grahame?" he said.

"No; the wire is addressed to us, but he hesitated a moment—perhaps you can tell us something about it."

He gave the telegram to Eric to read.

"A gentleman will come to you with the victoria and cab. Do not on any account let the carriage go. I will wire further instructions."

The office from which the telegram came was Victoria; there was not a word about Nessa. Eric's heart bounded with a secret hope.

"The hostler says he saw you get out of the victoria at the corner of the street," said the clerk.

"Yes; it has gone back to St. John's Wood."

The clerk took back the telegram with a shrug and thanked Eric.

"There is no telegram for Miss Grahame?" Eric asked.

"None, sir. If any should come I will bring it in at once."

Nessa came down, charming in her furs. The admiration in Eric's face told her that, if her glass had failed to do so, "No message has come for me yet," she said, interrogatively.

"None."

"It is stupid to expect one until she has an address to send me. I may have to wait three or four hours," she paused, and then added, her pretty eyes twinkling, "I am afraid I cannot thank you as I should yet a while."

"When you find words to thank me I may find words to bid you farewell—not before." That is just what she wanted him to say, and he said it as nicely as she could wish.

"We will leave both till the last moment possible. I shall be glad to put it off for quite a long while, for there are many questions that I wish to ask you, and—I usually have lunch about this time."

Eric carried her off to a hotel and they ate together—Nessa showing a very pretty taste in her selection of dishes, and they laughed and were happy, though each had black care close at hand. Nessa wished to make herself agreeable, as the only way in which she could express her gratitude, while Eric abandoned himself to the delight of the moment, and put away all gloomy thoughts for the gloomy hour that must come with a practical philosophy only possible to the young.

Radford's clerk, in recommending the hotel at which they dined, had promised that if any telegram for Nessa came in during their absence, he would send it on by a messenger at once. Nearly two hours had passed since they left the riding school, and no messenger had come. Every minute added to the probability that Nessa would be compelled to accept his father's offer.

FAT MEN OF OLD.

What They Did to Reduce Their Weight About 250 A. D.

We know from ancient history that some of the greatest men of the old world were fat, but it is news to hear that they were troubled in their minds on that account. Banting is generally supposed to be an invention of the present century, but that is not the case; it is shown by the treatise by Galen on the foods best adapted for preventing, or reducing, obesity, which has now been edited for the first time in the original Greek by a German scholar.

From an interesting account supplied by a writer in the Lancet, we learn that the treatise in question, which was written somewhere in the second century, A. D., was discovered in 1840 and purchased by the Bibliothèque Nationale. The MS. was frequently referred to by ancient authors, and there seems no reason to doubt that it is really the work of the famous physician. Be that as it may, it is noteworthy that the treatise is a scientific anticipation of the banting system, which became popular about the middle of this century. Galen deprecates the use of drugs, and says that the proper way to reduce fat is by dieting. He recommends eating leeks, onions, mustard and nasturtiums, among green herbs, and fishes which haunt rocks and birds frequenting mountains, saying that aquatic birds are fat-producers. One of his most curious hints is that vegetables which have been preserved in vinegar or brine are food for the fat, and herein he anticipates the "mixed pickles," which are considered on the continent to be a purely English invention. Some of his recommendations read very comically nowadays, but all of them are full of common sense, and it seems extraordinary that so much knowledge should be lost to the world for so many years. There is nothing new under the sun, not even the present craze for a slim figure, and Galen's treatise shows us that after all people of 1700 years ago were men of like passions with ourselves.—London Globe.

To speak and to offend, with some people, are but one and the same thing.—La Bruyere.

CAPTURED BY THE ALLIES.

Pao Ting Fu the Scene of Several Cruel Massacres.

KWANG TUNG REVOLT.

Chinese Authorities Unable to Suppress It—Piracy is Rampant.

London, Oct. 16.—A dispatch from Shanghai states that Pao Ting Fu was captured on Saturday by the force of 7,000 allies sent from Peking for that purpose.

PIRACY RAMPANT.

Rebellion in Kwang Tung Province Becoming Serious.

Hong Kong, Oct. 16.—The rebellion in Kwang Tung province is serious and the Chinese authorities are unable to suppress it. The depletion of the Canton garrison of 7000 men renders the city unsafe and piracy is rampant in the river.

Sunday night the rebels attacked Macao, but the Portuguese soon dispersed the rabble. The British, fearing incursions of the Kowloon territory, have further strengthened the frontier guard with 400 Indian troops.

In consequence of American interests being imperiled Wildman has gone to Manila to consult with Gen. MacArthur on the situation.

Chinese Authorities Powerless.

A force of 300 Bombay infantry and six Hong Kong artillery, with a full field equipment, proceed to the Kowloon frontier to perfect a system of defense against the incursions of the rebels terrorizing the district beyond. The Chinese authorities are apparently unable to cope with them, although it is reported over 11,000 have from the Bogue forts of Canton are engaging the rioters.

Plan to Overthrow Manchus.

The rebel movement is supposed to be designed for the support of the reformers who wish to overthrow the Manchus.

Violent robberies are increasing in Canton, and the position is critical. A small disturbance at Macao yesterday was quelled by the arrival of the Kowloon military authorities. Piracy is increasing, and many alarming rumors are in circulation.

CHANG YEN HOON EXECUTED.

Chinese Statesman Beheaded by Order of Empress Dowager.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Confirmation has been made of the execution on July 20 of Chang Yen Hoon, the former Chinese minister to the United States. Chang was a loyal adherent of the Emperor and a warm supporter of the latter's reform movements. When the Empress Dowager supplanted the Emperor two years ago he was banished to Nebraska, but through the intervention of American and British ministers his punishment was commuted to banishment in the distant province of Kashgar.

It now appears that the Empress Dowager, taking advantage of the reign of terror at Peking and knowing Chang's influence with the Emperor, ordered his execution by decapitation.

Chang was considered by those familiar with Chinese affairs as one of the ablest men in China. He had been employed by the Queen of Great Britain and by the Emperor of Russia and Germany. He was pre-eminently the most liberal and enlightened of Chinese statesmen and had his life been spared all the operations of the allies, he would doubtless have been recalled and have taken an active part in the pending negotiations and future government of China.

THE SPOILS OF WAR.

Loot Secured at Peking to be Part Payment of Indemnity.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The American share of the loot at Peking is larger than at first reported. It has been understood that all the Americans' loot after the capture of Tien Tsin was gold amounting in value to $278,000. It now appears that this was only the value of the gold and silver taken from the Chinese treasury at Tien Tsin. It is now reported that the total value of the loot will reach a figure about $100,000 in excess of the amount originally reported. The gold coin and gold bars taken from the treasury were melted by order of Gen. Chafoe.

There is considerable doubt about whether the United States is entitled to keep this gold, whatever its amount may finally be determined to be, because this government has proceeded on the theory that in China, as in other countries, the loot is extremely unlikely that the gold will ever be returned to China. It may not be held as spoils of war, for the reason given, but it will probably be held as part payment of the indemnity which America will demand.

RUSSIA IS HARD UP.

Cannot Stand the Financial Strain of a Prolonged War.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The fact that Russia is endeavoring to raise a $150,000,000 loan in New York and Paris may explain why Russia has been so anxious to induce the powers to retire from Peking. Stand the financial strain of a prolonged campaign in China, and the fact that she is trying to borrow money is perhaps one of the surest guarantees of international peace.

In Paris Russia is trying to induce the Rothschilds to lend her $100,000,000 francs ($160,000,000). In New York one of the great international financial houses is trying to form a syndicate to lend Russia $50,000,000.

As America is a heavier creditor nation and has more money seeking investment than can be profitably employed, it is not unlikely that a Russian loan can be negotiated in New York, provided the security and interest offered are satisfactory.

BASIS FOR NEGOTIATIONS.

All the Powers Said to Have Accepted the French Note.

Paris, Oct. 16.—At a cabinet council held at the Elysee palace today the minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, announced that all the powers have accepted the French note as the basis for negotiations.

The minister added that he had been informed Li Hung Chang has just ordered the Black Flags and Kwang Si troops, which are traversing the province of Hu Nan, on their way to join the court at Sian Fu, to abandon their march and return to Canton.

RUSSIA'S INDEPENDENT POLICY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 16.—The Russian government permits it to become known that its attitude in China will be increasing independence of the powers. Russia, it is explained, is disposed to attach less value to joint action since her interests have been fully secured by the successful campaign in Manchuria. Moreover, Russia is not willing to follow the irreconcilable policy of some of the powers.

HARD FIGHT TO SAVE VILLAGE.

Kellnersville People Do Heroic Work to Save Homes from Burning.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 16.—That the fire which visited Kellnersville, a small village fifteen miles from here, did not wipe out the whole village was due entirely to heroic work done by the villagers. The fire started in the barn of Frank Wanish and although nearly every house in the village was scorched, the combined efforts of four threshing machine crews and citizens saved them.

Every well in the vicinity was emptied, and it was late in the afternoon before the danger was over. The villagers had all their things packed ready to leave. Mr. Wanish's loss is about $3000, the barn being filled with grain and machinery.

OLD MAN KILLED AT GREEN BAY.

While Walking on North-Western Tracks He was Struck by a Train.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Patrick Hickey, aged about 70 years, a resident of this city for many years, was run down and killed by a North-Western freight train while walking on a trestle in the southern part of the city about 10 o'clock last night.

Hickey's mutilated body was discovered by the crew of a switch engine, and he died a few minutes after being picked up.

FIVE FINE HORSES BURNED TO DEATH.

Stable of R. M. Briggs at Antigo Destroyed—Dearbrook Mill Consumed.

Antigo, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The barn of R. M. Briggs was burned this morning at 1 o'clock with contents, consisting of five of the finest horses in the county together with harnesses, etc. The loss is $1500, with very little insurance.

The mill and yards of Reindel & Jichi at Dearbrook, seven miles north of Antigo, also burned this morning early. The loss is total. The mill and yards were insured to cover loss.

GREEN BAY SOLDIER SHOT BY FILIPINO.

H. F. North was Killed by Insurgent in Ambush—A Signal Service Man.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—A cablegram received today announces the death in the Philippines of Hadley F. North, son of George L. North of the city. Young North was a member of the signal service department of the regular army and was shot by a native Filipino in ambush.

LARGEST MILL IN WORLD.

Badger Capital Interested in Developing Rainy Lake Country.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—A project, backed by American and Canadian capital, is on foot for the establishment of a great undeveloped water power in the Rainy Lake region of western Canada, of the largest pulp mill in the world. Spruce wood and water power are practically inexhaustible in the region mentioned, and with the coming of the Ontario & Rainy Lake railway into that section, as anticipated the coming spring, the possibility of making ground-wood pulp cheaper and more steadily than anywhere else in the world is unquestioned. The American capital interested is partly from the Fox river valley and the rest of the American and Canadian capital is to be provided by the element of experiment is eliminated from the project. E. R. Pride, the hydraulic engineer and paper mill architect of Appleton, has just returned from a trip to the Rainy Lake country, where he made preliminary observations and arranged for surveys for the development of the proposed water power.

OLD INDIAN NEARLY DROWNED.

Fell Off His Horse Into Water On Overflowed Lands.

Portage, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Old John Dixon, a Winnebago Indian, who resides on his farm on the Baraboo river, about four miles from this city, came near losing his life yesterday. He was riding his horse over a muddy fire, when he started home about dusk, but when he reached the overflowed lowlands west of the city he fell from his pony into water waist deep. He was rescued by Constable Clark, and wanted to scalp the officer after he had released him from his perilous position. He was locked in jail.

SHOT BY COMPANION.

Death of a Former Menasha Man in Montana.

Menasha, Wis., Oct. 16.—A telegram was received here announcing the death by accident of Richard Trilling, a former Menasha boy, and which occurred near Butte, Mont. He was a son of Mrs. Henry Trilling, who is bedridden, and it is thought that the blow will prove fatal to her. Trilling and other young men were camping and he was accidentally shot dead by one of his companions. He was 25 years old.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

William Peterson of Yellow Lake Shot Through Body.

Grantsburg, Wis., Oct. 16.—William Peterson of Yellow Lake was killed while hunting. He laid his gun over a spring. He had been practicing law at Nome. Mr. Stenjem says that the situation at Nome is not so bad as has been represented. He says that Dr. Kittleson of Stoughton will be home in about two weeks with considerable gold which he obtained.

Woman Violently Insane.

Marshfield, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mike Wirth was taken to the state hospital today. A few days ago she became violently insane.

The Diseased Rich at Baden-Baden.

A great deal of grandeur always makes me homesick. I am sure that I should want to be a princess and have the bother of winding a horn for my outriders when I want to run to the drug store for postage stamps, but pomp depresses me. Everybody was strange; foreign languages were being talked; the most noticeable bunnies were carrying pampers lap dogs with crests on their nasty little embroidered blankets; fat old women with epilepsy and gouty old men with scrofula, representing the aristocracy at its best, were being half carried to and from tables, and the degeneracy of noble Europe was being borne in upon my soul with a sickening force. The purple twilight was turning black on the distant hills and the silent stars were slowly coming into view. A clear, bright, glowing Baden-Baden, in the valley of the Oos, with its beauty and its pure air, was holding out her arms to all the disease and filth that degenerate riches produce. I saw a man in a woman's rich costume.

Chinese Finery Captured by Looters.

Peking should be an interesting sight when the French and other troops return after their European tour, and when they find many lamentations when they learn the worst and find most of their cherished belongings missing. The allied officers are said to have found the Chinese with gorgeous furs and fashionable embroideries from the looters at a great auction sale, held for the benefit of the troops, and doubtless they will send them home. They will then grace European homes with their spoils,

One for Bohrmich.

The following from Edgar, Wis. tells how the democratic nominee was received there:

Louis G. Bohrmich, the democratic candidate for governor, addressed a large crowd here Saturday evening, farmers having come from miles around to hear his speech. When Mr. Bohrmich described the treatment of Porto Rico by the republican administration, a young man named Cook in the audience said:

"That's so, I was there as one of the volunteers."

Mr. Bohrmich asked what he thought of the way this government had treated Porto Rico. Cook said: "It has made a democrat of me and all my family."

This remark brought down the house and it cheered both Bohrmich and Cook to the echo.

No Glory or Humanity.

Carl Schurz states no more than a truth which is open to common observation when he says of the war for the subjugation of our Filipino allies that it is "a war without glory and without enthusiasm—a war for which even those who defend it have nothing but regret and shamefaced apology."

It has been so from the beginning. Newspapers which announced victories over Spain in great headlines running clear across the tops of their pages have never evinced the least sign of joy or pride in announcing victories over the Filipinos.

Administration organs not excepted, they have made it their practice to announce these triumphs over allies on inside pages, in out-of-the-way corners and under skulking little headlines expressive only of shame.

Thus spontaneously and unanimously they have admitted that there was nothing in this war to kindle pride, or even to give momentary satisfaction to readers who have no selfish interest in the cruel business.

This war has not inspired one burst of oratory with a genuine heart throb of human sympathy in it. It has not inspired a single song that rings in the soul.

There are no triumphal processions, there is appeal to no sentiment more noble than brutal love of mastery or miserly love of money.

At the close of the civil war we could indaige not in exultation over a fallen foe, but in rejoicing over a union saved from disruption.

We could shout and sing not woe to the vanquished, but joy to the liberated. We could not glorify the flag that was crushed, but sing "hurrah, hurrah for the flag that made you free."

There is today no triumph over wrong, no setting of the captive free to glory in. There is only hard and pitiless clang of steel and the hoarse shout of conquest and mastery over the aspirations of people who have long struggled as our fathers did for freedom and independence.—Chicago Chronicle.

Education That Pays.

Although the largest individual owner of business colleges in the U. S., the demand for my graduates is and has been for the past five years, in excess of the supply. Especially is this the case with male stenographers. At the present writing every shorthand graduate, including all my schools, is employed and in the past thirty days I have had nearly twenty calls for stenographers that I could not fill. The next winter term begins Nov. 5. One month trial free. Free car fare. Send for combined catalogue containing full information regarding my business universities at LaCrosse, Eau Claire and Wausau, Wis., and Winona and Fairmont, Minn. Always address F. J. Toland, LaCrosse, Wis.

Withdrawals from Ticket.

The following communication was received by the News with the request that it be published:
AUBURNDALE, Oct. 15, 1900.—Marshfield News: I see by the county papers that I was nominated for corner at the republican convention. This was without my knowledge or consent. Whether it was done as a practical joke or a studied insult it matters little; but I want it understood that I am not a candidate for the office and do not want my name to appear on the ticket.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were granted during the past week:
Peter Holberg to Miss Julia Johnson, Edwin Baldwin to Myrtle Young.

—Those who miss "Two Married Men" at the opera house next Saturday evening, Oct. 27, will miss a good laugh, for there is no play on the road today that is quite so funny as "Two Married Men." If you have got the blues and want to get rid of them, go and see "Two Married Men." There are many specialties and the action of the play is always fast and furious so that before one realizes it the evening is over, the curtain is down and you laugh on your way home and keep on laughing until you go to sleep.

—There is plenty of singing and dancing in "Two Married Men," which will be the attraction for one night at the opera house next Saturday, Oct. 27. "Two Married Men" toured the country last year playing only the larger cities, and so has the endorsement of thousands of theatregoers. It isn't a new play; it has been tried and proven and as the company this year is better than last, Manager Whitney's patrons may expect something way above the average.

—During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co. W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whisky in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

ROBBERS SHOW FIGHT.

Burglars Escape from Posses of Citizens at Salem.

MANY SHOTS ARE FIRED.

Men Caught in the Act of Robbing a Store Fight for Their Liberty.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The little town of Salem is in a state of excitement today on account of a battle between burglars and citizens which occurred in the early hours of the morning.

Toward 3 o'clock robbers broke into the hardware store of H. B. Gardiner and shortly after they had entered the place the burglar alarm went off and the entire house was awakened. The burglars fled to the front of the house, but the spring lock on the door kept them from escaping. A moment later the owner of the store, who had been sleeping in the rear room, opened his eyes and saw the burglars. He immediately called out and then made their way out of the store.

The people in the neighborhood were aroused and for some time the burglars and a posse of citizens following them kept up a running battle. The robbers were fired upon by the citizens and were forced to escape in a vehicle.

The people report that one of the robbers was badly wounded but he was carried away by his companions, and no trace of them has as yet been found.

During the fusillade on the streets, several windows in houses were broken and many narrow escapes were reported. The burglars had secured about $300 worth of booty, but all of it, with the exception of two shotguns, was recovered.

RENEWS LITIGATION.

Decision in Kaukauna Water-Power Case Reopens the Whole Matter Again.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The decision in the Outagamie county circuit court yesterday by Judge Goodland to the effect that the Green Bay & Mississippi Canal company is not entitled to rentals for its water used from 1888 to 1895 by the Kaukauna Water-Power company and its renters, will have the effect of in a large measure reopening the litigation which was supposed to have been settled by the decision of the United States Supreme court nearly a year ago, affirming the canal company as the sole owner of all water flowing over the Kaukauna dam not necessary for navigation. This decision of the canal company is declared by the Supreme court to have always existed. On this basis it existed in 1888, has existed ever since then and now exists. Hence all water within those limits by the Kaukauna Water-Power company or its customers was water belonging to the Green Bay & Mississippi Canal company. As a matter of fact, most of the users of water during that time and under those circumstances have already settled with the canal company for the water thus drawn at such times. The cases against the others will be appealed to the state and if necessary the United States Supreme courts.

TO CLAIM FORTUNE.

A Poor Laborer of Little Chute Falls Heir to a Large Fortune.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—Phillip Lima, a laborer living at Little Chute, who, for the past few years, has been an invalid and in destitute circumstances, will sail Saturday on the Holland-American line steamer Statendam for Venlo, Holland, where he goes to collect an inheritance, which has recently been left him by his brother.

The news of his fortune reached him several days ago, but he was incredulous and cablegraphed the attorney to send him passage money and he would go. The money was sent immediately and Lima was almost overcome at the tangible assurance of his fortune.

The amount of the fortune cannot be definitely stated, but it is thought to be large as rumors to that effect have been reached Lima although he has had no connections with his family for many years. He is the sole heir.

INDIAN LAD'S DARING ESCAPE.

Cuts Way Out of Jail, Fires Barn and Steals Horse.

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 17.—Peter Nawiesch, an Indian lad about 15 years old, in jail on the charge of horse stealing, cut his way out. He then set fire to the jail barn, and taking Sheriff Clarke's team made his escape. In a few hours he was captured forty miles from here and brought back. The barn burned down and a cow was cremated.

FOOT CAUGHT IN FROG.

Switchman is Killed in Sheboygan Freight Yards.

ROAD TO EXTEND TO OCONTO TOWNS.

Milwaukee Railway Has Run Line Through Rich Farming Section.

Oconto Falls, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—It is now understood that the extension of the Milwaukee road from Oconto Junction to this place will be continued on through Hickory and other Oconto county towns to connect with the company's main line farther north. It would afford convenient railway communication to as fine a farming section as there is in the state. With increased railroad facilities and the prestige which naturally accompanies such enterprise, the question of removing the county seat from Oconto to Oconto Falls may be revived.

DO NOT BELIEVE IT WAS A JOKE.

Kenosha Police Still Confident that a Woman-Committed Suicide in the Lake.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The Kenosha police have not as yet found any further clue to the identity of the woman who is supposed to have committed suicide in this city by leaping into the lake. The lake is still being patrolled and the officers refuse to believe that the note and the shoes were left on the shore of the lake by a practical joker.

FISHERMEN OUT OF WORK.

Closing of Game Season Forces 150 Men at Two Rivers Into Idleness.

Two Rivers, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The closed fishing season, which began here yesterday, throws about 150 hands into enforced idleness here. The time will not be entirely lost, however, but will be utilized by the fishermen in repairing their nets and overhauling their fishing apparatus, including their boats and tugs. At the present time there are five tugs and about thirty sailboats engaged in the business here.

Miss Ella Koester and Henry Neinstadt and Annie Vanderblumen and August Spatz, all well-known young people of this city, were married yesterday and were held at the home of the bride.

Word has been received here that Marie Barteme, who enlisted in the navy as an apprentice about two years ago, has become deaf and is confined at the naval hospital at Brooklyn. He will be brought home at once.

CLOSE OF NAVIGATION.

By End of Week There will be No Boats Plying on the Mississippi.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 17.—Navigation on the Mississippi river is rapidly nearing its close. Raft boats are being laid up daily along the entire river and by the end of the week there will be scarcely a boat plying the waters. The entire fleet of eight steamboats owned by the Mississippi River Towing company are laid up here, the last arriving from down river today. The West Newton Rafting works have been shut down since October 1st, although the stage of water is excellent. The close of navigation came much earlier this year than it has for several years past.

ROOF CAVED IN.

Two Workmen Injured, One Probably Will Die—La Crosse Ice-house Collapses.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The roof of the old Heileman icehouse caved in late yesterday afternoon and injured two workmen, one of them, Andrew Squest, probably fatally. The icehouse was struck by lightning last spring and almost destroyed. Later a temporary structure was put up and now it is being torn down to make room for a new mammoth building.

FIRST SETTLER OF KENOSHA.

Mrs. Martha Huggins Laid to Rest—Came West in 1835.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—The remains of Mrs. Martha Huggins, widow of Edgar Huggins, one of the pioneer settlers of southern Wisconsin, were brought to this city this morning from Rockville, Wis., and laid to rest in the Huggins family plot in the city cemetery. Mrs. Huggins had the honor of being one of the first two settlers in Kenosha county and most of her life was spent in this country. She was born in the East and with her husband, who was one of the founders of the Western Emigration company, which largely settled southern Wisconsin, came to South Port early in 1835. This was before any settlement had been made in the country, and Mr. and Mrs. Huggins with their own hands built themselves a cabin on Washington island and laid the foundation for the settlement here.

WILL ABANDON STEAM ENGINES.

Michigan Railway Seventy-five Miles Long to Use Electricity.

Marquette, Wis., Oct. 17.—Isaac Stephenson, former congressman, states that within two years the Escanaba & Lake Superior railway, of which he is president, will be operated by electrical power. Plans are now being made by which the vast water power along the Escanaba will be utilized to furnish the motive power for the operation of the road.

The Escanaba river has a large number of water powers, and one twenty miles from Wells, Mich., has a forty-six foot head, and this power alone would furnish enough energy to operate all the trains on the road.

It will be the only railroad in the United States operated by electric power. It is seventy-five miles long, and extends from Wells to Channing, Mich.

PRESSED INTO ARMY SERVICE.

La Crosse Man is Fighting the Boers in South Africa.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—A letter from Charles Klein of this city, pressed into the English army in South Africa, states that in his opinion the Boer war is about over. He has seen much hard service and says the Boers are hard fighters. He adds: "The farmers in this part of the country (Verdurde, Vic) are not to be trusted. They keep the Boers informed as to our whereabouts."

NEVER ABLE TO WALK.

Kaukauna, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—At Holy Cross church this morning was held the funeral of Miss Mary McCormack, aged 42 years, who, during the whole of her life, has never been able to walk. When at the age of 1 year she was beginning to learn to walk she was stricken with a partial paralysis of her lower limbs and has never been able since to walk. In stature she was about the size of a 10-year-old child.

BIG FIRE AT OSHKOSH.

Flames Destroy $300,000 Worth of Property.

THE CITY THREATENED.

For a Time it Seemed that Oshkosh Would be Wiped Out of Existence.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special].—Fire broke out at 4:20 o'clock this morning in the lumber district and by 7 o'clock $300,000 worth of property had been destroyed and part of the Hollister-Amos company's mill and the plant of Chaloner & Sons' company.

The fire burned rapidly and for a time it was feared that the flames would spread to the other parts of the city. The mayor wired Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Fond du Lac for help. Fond du Lac responded immediately, but the department from that city was sent back before reaching the city, the danger having passed. The other cities were also notified not to send help. The following is an estimate of the loss:

Hollister-Amos Company—Sawmill, lumber, logs and shingles, loss, $80,000. Diamond Match Company—Lumber yards containing between $200,000 and $300,000 worth of lumber; loss, $175,000. Chaloner & Sons' Company—Pattern shops and warehouse, loss, $25,000.

Several small losses. All losses are fully covered by insurance.

The Diamond Match company had between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet of match lumber, valued at from $20 to $25 per thousand. This was nearly all destroyed. The Hollister-Amos company places its loss at $80,000, as follows: 2,000,000 feet factory plank, $54,000; 2,000,000 shingles, $30,000; dressed lumber, $20,000; flooring, $20,000; 1,200,000 feet common lumber, $15,000.

FIRE SPREAD RAPIDLY.

The block bounded by Osceola, Blackhawk and Pearl streets and the river was swept by flames. The fire burned fiercely from 4:30 o'clock, when it was first discovered, until shortly after 1 o'clock, when it was gotten under control.

At noon the fire was burning and the department was still pouring water onto the ruins. A few moments before 4:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from the Hollister plant. When the department arrived it was found that the lumber shed of the plant was in flames and that the fire was spreading rapidly into the lumber yards.

There was a stiff breeze from the west and, fanned by the wind, the flames made quick work of the lumber district. A second, third and general alarm were sent in in quick succession and all the fire engines in the city were placed around the burning district to keep the flames from spreading to other parts of the city.

CITY THREATENED WITH DESTRUCTION.

At 5 o'clock the department feared that the fire was getting away from it and that help from the outside was needed to save the city from destruction.

The mayor immediately sent word to surrounding cities for help. At 6 o'clock the wind began to go down and then it shifted to the east. This alone saved several large plants which had been threatened.

It is thought that the fire was set by tramps who have been sleeping in the lumber shed for some time. The shed has been a favorite place with them and it is probable that one of them left a lighted pipe in some sawdust.

RAIN SAVES MILLS.

It rained hard in the early evening last night and the timber was wet, which accounts for the fact that the fire did not burn faster than it did. The rain also prevented the sparks which flew in all directions from starting fires in the other parts of the city. Had everything been dry there is no telling where the fire would have ended. The probability was that the city would be a mass of ruins today.

It is estimated that nine acres of ground was burned over.

The other bad fires that have visited Oshkosh in former years have always been in the territory burned over this morning.

No one was injured in the fire. The firemen worked heroically and did not think of stopping to rest until long after noon when the fire was practically out.

The glow in the sky could be seen for miles and with the wind all parts of the county came to Oshkosh to see the conflagration.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

House at Marinette is Wrecked and Three Persons Are Injured.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special].—Lightning struck the residence of George Clumb last night. Mrs. Clumb was knocked senseless and pieces of flesh were torn from her shoulder and calf of one leg. She was badly burned, but will recover. Two children were also slightly injured and the interior of the house wrecked.

OBITUARY MENTION.

Charles Haverland, Manitowoc. Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 16.—Charles Haverland, for many years a resident of this city, died at his home several miles from this city. Mr. Haverland for many years conducted the Central house here. He was 71 years old and is survived by his wife.

SMALLPOX IN CAMP NEAR IRON RIVER.

The Board of Health Fears that an Epidemic May Break Out.

Iron River, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—There are two cases of smallpox in one of the Wilkinson camps, a few miles out of town. The board of health is acting promptly in quarantining the infected camp and isolating the sick men. It looks as if Iron River might have a hard battle with the disease on account of the steady influx of strangers which has now set in and will continue until the several thousand needed in the piers have been employed for the winter.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Burglars Make a Haul of $200 in Stamps and Currency at Fond du Lac.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—Robbers made another raid last night on the Fond du Lac postoffice, an old target for members of the safe-blowing craft, and breaking into the vault made a haul of about $200 in stamps and currency, and a number of registered letters, the contents of which are not yet known.

Postmaster Given this morning stated that the loss was not great, but that its extent could not be determined for a day or two.

The thieves effected an entrance through a rear window, blew open the vault door, but the two safes inside the vault which contained big treasures were not opened. The robbery was not discovered until 6:30 o'clock this morning, when Clerk Fred Breister opened the office. There is no one in the building from 8:30 in the evening until the next morning.

The postoffice is in a beat covered by a member of the local force and by a special policeman who is employed by the bankers and business men in this vicinity. Both officers were in entire ignorance of last night's operations in the office, although they were on duty the night of the robbery.

The postoffice has been robbed twice before. On June 15, 1892, the safe was cracked and $180.52 was secured. Thieves broke in again August 16, 1893, and stole $182.22. The postoffice in one of the local banks so that there was little outside of the small safes in the vault, for the robbers to get. It is feared that the haul of registered letters may be very large as there were many in the office.

ARMED MAN RUN DOWN BY CAR.

Frank Ellsworth, who celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday yesterday, was run into by a street car at 1:30 o'clock this morning and badly injured. The accident occurred at Scott and Mill streets. Mr. Ellsworth was waiting for the car. He stood too near the track and was struck. A bad scalp wound and several other injuries were inflicted. Mr. Ellsworth is married and lives at 181 West Scott street.

TO EXTEND FRANCHISE.

Property Owners of Racine Petition Council About Waterworks Proposition.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special].—This morning a petition was put in circulation and was signed by most of the leading property owners and manufacturers in this city asking that the council accept the report of the special committee on waterworks and grant the Racine Water company an extended franchise. One of the principal points made in the petition is that the rates to consumers in this city is lower than in any other city of its size in the United States. The proposition submitted by the committee is also held to be very advantageous to the city. It is probable that the petition will have great weight with the aldermen.

This is the first of a series of this most remarkable group of windows, twenty-one in all, was made at Innsbruck in the Tyrol mountains of Austria on order of the pastor, Rev. Father Steinbricker.

A MYSTERY IN KENOSHA.

Believed that an Evanston Girl Drowned Herself in Lake.

NOTE SIGNED "EDNA"

Letter and a Pair of Woman's Shoes Discovered on Beach Near Kenosha.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 15.—[Special].—Old Lake Michigan has furnished an other mystery for the solution of the Kenosha police for yesterday afternoon pedestrians, walking along the shore of the lake, south of the city, found evidence that some young woman, presumably from Evanston, Ill., had sought death by casting herself into the waters of the lake.

In one of the remote corners of the beach, just south of Kemper hall, a note, which is alleged to have been written by an intended suicide, was picked up. More is added to the evidence of suicide by the fact that a pair of tan shoes was found a few feet south of the point where the note was discovered.

The note is written on a small piece of cardboard and, while it had been in the water for some time, the message, which it would convey, is still able to be read. It was deciphered this morning and was as follows:

My Dear Mother: Owing to troubles at home I can stand it no longer. Father is not kind to me and the boys are worse. When you hear of me again my body will lie in Lake Michigan. Wishing you happiness in this world, I remain your child, EDNA.

When the letter was found the people on the beach thought little of the circumstance but when the shoes were discovered, a short distance further on, they began to put a serious light on the finds and the matter was referred to the police. The shoes evidently belonged to one of the better classes. They are tan in color and about a number four in size. The only mark, which would serve as an identification mark, is on the interior of the shoes where the name of the dealer who sold them appears. The name is C. E. Wiswall, a dealer at Evanston, Ill.

This morning officers were sent out along the beach to see if any body had been discovered floating in the lake, but nothing was found. No one bearing the name of Edna is reported as missing at the police office and it is thought that if a suicide had found death in the lake off Kenosha she must have come to Kenosha from Evanston for this purpose. The police of Chicago and Evanston have been notified of the find.

DESERT AGED PARENT.

Samuel Peck of Baraboo, 83 Years Old, Had No One to Take Care of Him.

Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 15.—[Special].—Samuel Peck, aged 83 years, died at the county infirmary yesterday as the result of, as alleged, of his sons' ingratitude. For some time they have been residing near Kilmora, but a few days ago, it is said, the younger members of the household suddenly departed and left the aged father alone. He was unable to care for himself and the poor commissioner removed him to the county infirmary, but the condition of affairs so preyed upon him that he passed away a few hours after becoming the county charge.

MAY SUE THE SHERIFF.

Four Wrightstown Farmers Charged with Robbery Are Discharged from Custody.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 15.—[Special].—Harry Bart, Albert Gustman, Chut Lough and Henry Vieu, four prominent young farmers of Wrightstown, Brown county, who were recently arrested on a charge of burglary, were dismissed today for lack of evidence against them. They threaten to institute a suit for damages against Sheriff Brunson and deputies on the ground of false imprisonment.

WATER CASE SETTLED.

Baraboo Comes to an Agreement with the Company.

Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 15.—[Special].—At a special meeting of the city council on Saturday evening an agreement was reached in the suit between the city and the Baraboo Waterworks company. Some time ago the service became so inadequate that the charter was being violated in several particulars and the city refused to pay the rental for water service amounting to $4500, and suit was begun by the company to recover the amount. The case has been in the courts for some time and has cost the city about $1000 and the water company as much more. It is now agreed that the city pay $1500 to the company and drop the suit, which will be done.

KICKED IN THE FACE.

It is proposed to buy a steamboat and run a cheap excursion each week. The merchants ran excursions all summer and brought over 5000 persons to Oshkosh.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Julius Klatt of Pewaukee Victim of His Own Gun.

Waukesha, Wis., Oct. 15.—[Special].—Julius Klatt, a Pewaukee farmer, was found dead in his field, shot through the abdomen by a shotgun which was found on the opposite side of the fence. It is supposed that the gun was accidentally discharged. Klatt was 61 years old, and leaves a wife and eight children.

English Postal Savings Increasing. As long as England herself remains solvent it is impossible for the Postoffice Savings bank to be insolvent. As the interest paid to depositors is 2 1/2 per cent, the "profit" on the Postoffice Savings bank should again figure in the accounts of the chancellor of the exchequer as it did to the tune of one and a half millions sterling during the years 1875-95. But whether the bank makes a "profit" or not, people with small savings will be wise if they

TREASURES OF THE SEA.

British Fishermen Make Valuable Hauls from Wrecked Vessels.

There still exists on our coasts a class of men known as "hovelers," or swimmers—a modernized survival of the old wrecker fraternity—that earn a livelihood by the recovery of wreckage. During the summer months of last year upward of 140 tons of anchors and chains were dragged from the bed of the sea in the Downs and Yarmouth roads alone. The hardy fishermen of the North Sea frequently make valuable hauls in the shape of derelict or distressed vessels, or of sunken goods that become entangled in their fishing gear.

A few months ago a large vessel, carrying a general cargo, grounded and became waterlogged on a sandbank off the east coast. In a few hours a host of fishing boats of various nationalities gathered, vulturine, from a previously deserted sea. Feeling run so high over the looting that followed that a gubnet had to be dispatched to preserve order. Tons of fish were returned to the sea and replaced by pianos, cases of candles, toys and ironware and the varied collection of goods that constitute a ship's cargo and outfit, until the Trinity house authorities, recognizing that the wreck was dangerous to navigation, exercised their prerogative by warning off the spoilers and themselves taking charge.—London Express.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleans, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain. Does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Water Cure in Germany.

In no other country has hydrotherapy reached such a state of perfection as in Germany. The University of Berlin, or attempted to be cured by water. Besides the numerous watering places, plain and fashionable, there are dozens of water-cure institutions throughout the empire, and suffering mankind is crowding all of them. The University of Berlin has recognized the importance of this branch of medicine and decided upon erecting from October next a special chair for hydrotherapy, which will be occupied by Dr. Brigger of Berlin. The Charlotte, Soldatstrasse in the United States, arrangements have been made for classes where the professor's theories will find practical application.—Bremen letter in the Chicago Record.

What Do the Children Drink?
Don't give them tea or coffee. Have them try the new food drink called GRAIN-O. It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more health you develop through their systems. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/3 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

AUTUMN HAT.

The hats of the new season are all large, and in many cases massive. This handsome model in several tones of tan is an example of the piled-up effect seen in the shops of the modistes. The brim here is of a rich shade of brown velvet. The Tam O'Shanter crown of tan panne velvet and the plumes of shaded brown. A cream guipure application at the left side gives the finishing touch.

IN GAY NEW YORK.

James Brown Potter and his daughter, Miss Fifi Potter, who went abroad early in the season, have returned to their cottage on Cliff avenue, Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel have decided to spend the winter abroad. Mr. Drexel is now on his way here on the Deutschland but after a short stay will return to rejoin his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel are also on their way here for a short visit among relatives and friends in Philadelphia. They will also soon return to Europe and spend the winter abroad.

The marriage of Miss Jeanne Ross Edwards and Charles C. Delmonico, proprietor of the well-known restaurant bearing his name, was celebrated at the home of the bride's father, John R. Edwards, 111 St. Mark's avenue, Brooklyn. Mrs. Delmonico is 22 years old, extremely pretty and clever. Mr. Delmonico met Miss Edwards at Virginia Hot Springs last winter.

Lady Savile, who has been entertaining at the Prince of Wales, with other notables, at a house party in England, was formerly Mrs. Hellyar, who fifteen years ago when she was the wife of an attaché of the English embassy at Washington, was well known in New York and Newport society. She was then a tall and willowy blonde, with a superb figure. She returned to England about twelve years ago, and two years after her husband's death, which occurred about that time, married Lord Savile.

Mrs. Potter-Palmer closed her season at Paris with a dinner, followed by a musical. Among the guests were the German ambassador, Prince de Munster, the Russian minister, the American minister to Russia, and Mrs. Tower; the Danish minister and Mme. de Hegemann. Mrs. William Burden and Miss Morton, daughter of ex-Gov. Morton. Mrs. Palmer was entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Peck, wife of the commander-in-chief. The Palmers will leave for home on October 23 on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

A. Harry Chamberlain, the theatrical manager, has begun an action in the Supreme court to recover $50,000 damages from May Yoh, the actress, for breach of contract. Chamberlain asserts that last summer he made an agreement with Miss Yoh by which she was to appear at several theaters in the United States and Canada during the present season. He alleges she deliberately broke her contract on September 8 last. Chamberlain says that the defendant is the wife of Lord Francis Hope and is known by her husband's name as well as her stage name. He asks that if any judgment be rendered against her it may be declared a lien on any property which she may now own or subsequently may become possessed of by inheritance.

Miss Maude Adams will follow Francis Wilson at the Knickerbocker theater on Monday, October 22. She will then present for the first time here Edmund Rostand's latest play, "L'Aiglon," which has been adapted into English for her by Louis J. Clark, one of the authors of the popular play. A departure in the manner of the opening, sale of seats has been made for this attraction. Ordinarily, when a play is to be produced, orders for seats are received by mail at the box office. It has been decided, however, that no complaint can be made or dissatisfaction expressed, to present to the public an entirely clean box-office sheet, no advance orders for seats being received, by mail or otherwise. The only seats crossed off the sheet for the first night will be the usual ones reserved for the press.

It is reported that the famous statue of Balzac by Rodin, the French sculptor, has been bought by George Gould, the French Society of Men of Letters decided a few years ago to erect a memorial to the man who is considered to have been the keenest analyst of human nature. The commission was given to Auguste Rodin. Rodin took nearly a decade to conceive his idea. In last year's salon he exhibited the plaster model of the statue. What he displayed was something brutal, grotesque, almost shapeless, hideous, gross. It was a figure swathed in a heavy robe, which concealed all the outlines. The head, thrown back, was of savage aspect, cavernous eyes, a nose like a bird's beak, the mouth of a beast. Everyone was horrified, scandalized. There were protests from every side. The statue was declared to be a monstrosity. The sculptor was accused of having offered French literature a deliberate insult. The Society of Men of Letters rejected the work.

The great question of realistic expression versus ideal suggestion in plastic art was fiercely argued. One critic declared Rodin had sought to show "the soul of Balzac, the boundless self-assertion of the great workman, the flaming spirit of one given to labor and triumph" in other words, the statue was not a portrait but a symbol. It expressed everything that made Balzac what he was. Rodin's own explanation was not elucidating. He said: "I feel that I have realized my conception absolutely. I wished to show the great worker haunted by night with an idea and rising to transcribe it at his writing desk. I thought of him as foreseeing the new attacks that he would be submitted to and disdaining them."

Rev. Braddon Hamilton, who preaches to fashionable audiences in Newport, has pronounced views on what he calls the errors of society, and he is not afraid to express them.

"It has become very common, in fact, almost a prevailing custom among the younger married people," he says in an article published by the Smart Set, "to be seen in public with persons other than their own life partners. In fact, there is many a married woman who thinks it one of the smart things to be seen on parade with her own husband."

"Another reprehensible custom that appears to exist to some little degree is that of married men sending flowers to other men's wives."

"Another idea that has of late years crept into society is the idea of the male private secretary for women."

The recent tragic death of a young woman of good family, alone in her boudoir, with no one within reach but one of those male private secretaries, was an incident that ought to move even hearts of stone to pity; was an incident that revealed to this community a condition of things in an apparently model home that was pitiable beyond any language to express.

The chronic bachelors and society's middle-aged bachelors are no good generally. All they seem to possess are a badly-battered physique, a few dollars and a strong thirst. The bright, worthy young men seem to be too deeply engrossed in business to give society much attention.

In conclusion, the greatest need of society at the present time is better leadership—of men and women who are capable of suggesting and planning society's amusements; men and women of education, culture and refinement who have brains enough to think out results before suggesting amusements and sufficient force of character to stand by their ideas.

A Street-Railway Boycott.

Two months ago the city council of Montgomery, Ala., passed an ordinance requiring that the street car company provide separate seats for white and colored passengers. The company gave the white the forward seats, making no difference as to comfort or convenience. Now the colored people are boycotting the cars and the company's receipts have fallen off alarmingly.

How Russia Corners Sugar.

Each year the minister of finance fixes the amount of sugar which shall be produced in the empire, and sets the price at which it shall be sold. The average domestic consumption is about 1,000,000,000 pounds. This is announced as the legal limit on production which shall be put upon the market during the year. In addition to this it is allowed to manufacture 150,000,000 pounds more, which is placed in storage. The 1,000,000,000 pounds, as it is sold, pays an excise tax of 2 1/2 cents a pound. If at any time, through increased demand, sugar becomes worth more than the price fixed by the government, the 150,000,000 pounds in reserve is allowed to reach the market free of excise duty. If this does not supply the market at the legal price the government itself will buy from foreign countries enough sugar to supply the need for a year influence upon the price. This has been done by Russia twice during the past ten years. This system, of course, produces an export business in sugar, but the Russian government does not believe that the exporting of sugar from Russia can be made profitable or advisable, so it does not encourage it.—Fortnightly Review.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

WOMAN'S KIDNEY TROUBLES

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing this Fatal Woman's Disease.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so-called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women.

The following letters will show how marvelously successful it is:

Aug. 6, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am failing very fast, since January have lost thirty-five or forty pounds. I have a yellow, muddy complexion, feel tired, and have bearing down pains. Menstrues have not appeared for three months; sometimes I am troubled with a white discharge, and I also have kidney and bladder trouble. I have been this way for a long time, and feel so miserable I thought I would write to you, and see if you could do me any good."—MISS EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

Sept. 10, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound according to directions, and can say I have not felt so well for years as I do at present. Before taking your medicine a more miserable person you never saw. I could not eat or sleep, and did not care to talk with any one. I did not enjoy life at all. Now, I feel so well I cannot be grateful enough for what you have done for me. You are surely a woman's friend. Thanking you a thousand times, I remain, Ever yours, MISS EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it enough. I had headaches, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, and kidney trouble. I also had a pain when standing or walking, and sometimes there seemed to be balls of fire in front of me, so that I could not see for about twenty minutes. But as tired in the morning when I got up as if I had had no sleep for two weeks. Had fainting spells, was down-hearted, and would cry."—MRS. BERTHA OBER, Second and Clayton Sts., Chester Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot find language to express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I had female trouble, also liver, stomach, kidney, and bladder trouble. I tried several doctors, also quite a number of patent medicines, and had gotten well. At last I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, thanks to you medicine, I am a well woman. I can not praise your medicine too highly for I know it will do all, and even more, than it is recommended to do. I tell every suffering woman about your Vegetable Compound, and urge them to try it and see for themselves what it will do."—MRS. MARY A. HIRSH, No. Manchester, Ind.

A novel and time-saving device has originated in Germany in the way of a postal card, the possession of which will deprive even the laziest of sojourners in lotus land of any excuse for not communicating with their friends. One side of the card bears the postage stamp and the address. On the other side are printed words, followed by blank spaces for replies to the questions suggested. An example, with the replies made in one instance by the person who sent the card, is as follows: "Arrived: August 20. Society: Mixed. Health: Good. Scenery: Magnificent. Food: Immense. Lodgings: Fair to middling. Weather: Showery. Money: Sent me money by return. German remarks: Would like to live here. The pictorial postcard—the Ansicht-Karte—has risen from a fashion to a craze and a mania in Germany.—Newcastle (Eng.) Chronicle.

Language Makes Strife in Belgium.
At the present rate of development, the prevailing race war in Belgium promises to be fully as bitter as that in Austria. A parallel between King Leopold's kingdom and the empire of the Hapsburgs may easily be drawn. The great and permanent source of trouble in Austria is the racial strife between Germans and Czechs. In Belgium this strife finds its counterpart in the relentless race war between Flemish and Walloons. The question at stake in both countries is the same—the question of language, which, next to religion, has been the cause of the bloodiest conflicts in the history of nations.—New York Post.

VESPER.

Mr. Rote writes from Union Grove that they are having fine weather down there and that he had just hauled in his pumpkins. He says that many of them were all a man could lift into the wagon. He is well pleased with the crops.

Aug. Krebs built a cellar a short distance east of his house and then moved his house on it, completing the work Tuesday. Mr. Krebs has one of the finest locations in this part of the county. Moody Bros. did the mason work.

A letter from Archie Rozell states that the rainy weather still continues and that the farmers are unable to do their threshing. Harve Danken is in Minnesota laying pipe in a mine. Archie is still in North Dakota.

Mrs. F. W. Merrill has been suffering from a severe attack of typhoid fever for the past three weeks. We are glad to be able to announce that she is on the mend now.

Mrs. J. P. Sanders returned from Dover Wednesday, where she has been the past two weeks visiting with relatives.

Will Sanders left Tuesday morning for Three Lakes, where he is thinking some of locating if he likes the country.

Mike Cahill is having the chimneys built and the house plastered this week.

CRANMOOR.

The cranberry crop of this section is rapidly becoming disseminated to various parts of the country. The demand for good berries has been so active that three times as many would have found a ready market. But for the deadly frost of June 30 this supply would have matured and would not have affected prices which are better than last year.

The Cranmoor Cranberry company (W. H. Fitch and family) shipped their crop of berries to Kansas City Friday. Melvin Potter and S. N. Whittlesey also shipped some fine berries to same point the same day.

Thursday afternoon the platform at station was filled with growers for the way freight. Several growers happened to be sending out small orders at the same time and the aggregate amounted to nearly a car load.

Harry Abrams was at the Whittlesey marsh a few days helping mill the berries. Upon his return home Wednesday evening he was the victim of a surprise party by the young people of the neighborhood.

Edward Kruger now has quite a crew of pickers and if the fine weather holds out a little longer will probably get in all his berries, somewhere about a hundred barrels.

Chas. and Harriet Whittlesey were at home from Friday evening till Monday morning when they returned to their schools at Port Edwards and Dist. No. 4.

Bert Palmer, paymaster for the John Arpin Co., made a friendly call and inspected the marsh of his old friends the Whittlesey family Thursday afternoon.

Miss Granger teacher of the south school went to Grand Rapids on the five p. m. train Friday and returned Sunday evening.

Miss Lillie Warner and her brother Gilman wheeled down to Sunday school last Sabbath morning.

Miss Emma Lessig of Rudolph visited her sister Mrs. Robt. Rezin from Saturday till Monday.

Robt. Rezin and family and Miss Lessig visited the family of A. E. Bennett Sunday afternoon.

Timothy Foley made a business trip to Tomah Tuesday night, returning home next evening.

Harry Whittlesey attended the surprise party at Harry Abrams Wednesday night.

A. E. Bennett and Richard Rezin drove over to Elm Lake and Aldorf Sunday.

Mrs. Matt Carey came down Saturday and remained till Wednesday.

Mrs. Cohn took the train north Tuesday afternoon.

GENERAL COUNTY.

Peter C. Johanson residing in section ten in the town of Rock lost seven valuable sheep last Thursday night or Friday morning and the killing bears the earmarks of the work of wolves. Mr. Johanson covanted his sheep Friday morning preparatory to shipping a portion of them at this city and found he was seven short. He immediately instituted a search and found the bodies of three sheep which bore every evidence of having been killed by wolves. The town of Rock pays a bounty of $2 in addition to the state and county bounty of $10 for wolves, which affords an excellent opportunity for some of our star hunters to combine the enjoyment of the chase with profitable employment.—Marshfield Times.

After a brief illness Mrs. Wm. News passed away last Wednesday at the family residence in the town of Auburndale at the age of 57 years. No family is better known or more highly esteemed in that community and the news of Mrs. News' death was a shock to her large circle of friends. She is survived by her bereaved husband and eight children, the youngest of whom is less than two weeks of age. The funeral which was held last Thursday, numbered about fifty families in carriages, being one of the largest ever held in Auburndale.

Assemblyman A. E. Gerner was slightly injured and badly shaken up on Tuesday in a runaway accident. He was driving to Marshfield with a spirited team when a break in the harness allowed the pole to drop to the ground. This frightened the animals and in the runaway Mr. Gerner was dragged some distance. The team ran until thoroughly exhausted, considering the circumstances he believes himself fortunate in escaping with a few bruises.

Mrs. Peter Jensen died at Nasonville last Sunday night after a three days illness caused by pneumonia. She was 52 years of age and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. John Anderson. The funeral was held on Tuesday and the remains laid at rest in Nasonville cemetery.

MARSHFIELD ITEMS.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 31 occurs the marriage of Miss Agnes Connor of Auburndale and Harry A. Messer of Milwaukee at the Presbyterian church in this city.

The case against M. Vincent by D. Levin was won by the latter. Levin sued for $500 and the jury granted him $100.

Lawrence Kohl and Miss Pauline Rudel were married in this city Tuesday morning at the Catholic church.

Mrs. Alvin Gilford died in this city on Monday. She is survived by a husband and infant child.

G. C. Reid died in this city last Friday. He had lived in this section for twenty-five years.

Neillsville defeated the High school team last Sunday by a score of 53 to 0.

A Railroad Commissioner, in place of Graham L. Rice, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1901.

A Commissioner of Insurance, in place of Emil Giljohann, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1901.

A Representative in Congress for the Eighth Congressional district, consisting of the counties of Wood, Portage, Waupaca, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee and Door.

In accordance with section 1 of article XII, of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, the following joint resolutions adopted by the legislature of the state at the regular session of 1899, are made a part of the foregoing notice, to-wit:

[No. 9, S.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Proposing to amend section 10 of article 5, of the constitution of Wisconsin, relating to good roads.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 10 of article 5 of the constitution of Wisconsin, be amended by adding thereunto the following:

The state may, however, appropriate money to be raised by taxation, and not in any other manner, to be used in the construction or improvement of public highways, such construction or improvement to be made in the manner provided by law.

[No. 12, S.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2.

Proposing an amendment to article XIII, of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin to prohibit the pass system.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That article XIII of the constitution be amended by adding a new section, to be numbered and to read as follows: Section 11. No person, partnership, co-partnership, or corporation shall promise, or give, for any purpose, to any political committee, or any member or employee thereof, to any candidate for or incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality, of this state, or to any person at the request or for the advantage of all or any of them, any free pass or favor, or any privilege withheld from any person, for traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

No political committee or no member or employee thereof, no candidate for and no incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws of this state, or any town or municipality of this state, shall ask for, or accept, from any person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, or use, in any manner, for any purpose, any free pass or favor, or any privilege withheld from any person, for traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

Any violation of any of the above provisions shall be bribery and punished as provided by law, and if any officer or any member of the legislature be guilty thereof, his office shall become vacant.

No person within the purview of this act shall be privileged from testifying in relation to anything therein contained, and no person who is so testified shall be liable to any prosecution or punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to give his testimony or produce any document or evidence.

The railroad commissioner and his deputy in the discharge of duty are excepted from the provisions of this amendment.

[No. 16, S.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Proposing an amendment to article 11 of the constitution of Wisconsin, giving the legislature power to pass a general banking law.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That article 11 of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, be amended by substituting for sections 4 and 5 thereof a new section to be known as section 4 and reading as follows:

Section 4. The legislature shall have power to enact a general banking law for the creation of banks, and for the regulation and supervision of the banking business, provided that the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, be in favor of the passage of such law.

[No. 21, S.]

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 16.

Proposing an amendment to section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin relating to education.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 1 of article 10, of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be amended as to read as follows:

Section 1. The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct, and their qualifications, powers, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold his office for four years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The state superintendent chosen at the general election in November, 1902, shall hold office and continue in office until the first Monday in July, 1905, and his successor shall be chosen at the time of the general election in April, 1903. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law.

Given under my hand and official seal at the city of Madison on the 1st day of August, A. D. 1900.

To the County Clerk of Wood County, Wis.

Wm. H. FROELICH, Secretary of State.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

County of Wood.
